MISSISSIPPI IS FOR PRESIDENT

The Contests Are Decided by the Committee.

TAFT NOW HAS 153 DELEGATES

A Move To Unseat Francis J. Heney Is Made.

National Committeeman Sturgis, of Arizona, Declares Heney Runs for Prosecutor on Democratic Ticket and Is, Therefore, Not Entitled to His Seat as a Republican—Sensation Sprung.

Chicago, June 13.—With partisans of President Taft and Theodore Roosevelt becoming more bitter hourly, the Republican national committee today took up as its first task the Mississippi contests left unheard yesterday. The committee met at 9:10 o'clock and began hearing arguments on the contests from the Second, Fourth, Sixth and Seventh Mississippi districts which were consolidated, the evidence being heard in all cases at the same time. This left only the Eighth district to be heard separately.

It was also decided to argue the Fifth district contest separately. Dean E. Hyman presented the Roosevelt contestants' case to the committee, being assisted by George Morrison, a colored lawyer.

The delegates in the Second, Fourth, Sixth and Seventh Mississippi districts were given to President Taft. This made the Taft total go to that point 149.

While debate over the Mississippi delegates was proceeding, National Committeeman W. S. Sturgis moved that the proxy of Francis J. Heney, of San Francisco, be revoked. Heney has been sitting in the committee sessions holding the proxy of Sidney Weber, of the District of Columbia. His charges of fraud against the committee have stirred angry protests since he has taken his place in the session. The motion was laid on the table.

Why Move Is Made.

The move to unseat Heney was made on the ground that he had been a candidate for prosecutor on the Democratic ticket and therefore was not a Republican. Heney fought back and the motion was temporarily disposed of.

The move to unseat Heney was a sensation sprung on the committee by Sturgis, who is committeeman from Arizona.

"Is this the Republican national committee?" he asked.

There was an audible silence for fully a minute.

"If it is," Sturgis finally went on, "I move that the proxy held by F. J. Heney, a Democrat of California, be not accepted by this committee on the grounds that he is a candidate for district attorney on the Democratic ticket."

Senator Borah arose and protested when a second to the motion was heard.

"Mr. Heney is here on a proxy," he said.

At this point Heney was on his feet.

Heney Blames Calhoun.

"Inasmuch as I am in here," he said, "I presume I have a right to make a statement. I refused to accept the Democratic nomination for district attorney. But my name was written in on the ticket and I was put in nomination. And by the way, when Republicans wrote my name on the Republican ticket, I was defeated, if you please, by means of the corrupt money of Pat. Calhoun.'

"I would suggest," said Committeeman H. S. Chubb, of Florida, that he be permitted to stay and continue to enlighten the country on the matter of Abe Reuf."

Thomas H. Devine, on a proxy from Charles Cavender, of Colorado, then moved to lay the Sturgis motion on the table and it was carried. Heney resumed his seat smiling.

"I guess they must be afraid of me," he laughed.

Both Heney on the Roosevelt side today was Governor Stubbs, of Kansas. Governor Hadley was also on hand to present the Missouri contests.

Taft Men Win Again.

Taft won in the Fifth Mississippi district bringing his total seated by the committee up to 151.

Senator Borah moved to seat both the Taft and Roosevelt delegates, giving each half a vote. Committeeman Chubb, of Florida, moved to seat the Taft delegates. Borah asked for a roll call but it was not ordered. Borah's motion was voted down and Chubb's carried.

When the Fifth Mississippi district came up, Arthur D. Hill presented the Roosevelt side. He said the evidence shows the district convention, electing those delegates, was held in a hall at Meridian rented by Postmaster Price, every Roosevelt delegate, contested or not, being excluded by police officers, under Price's direction. The Roosevelt delegates then tried to hold a convention in another hall in the same building but were ordered out by Price, and then held a convention in another building.

The Eighth for Taft.

"The Taft convention was then held and delegates elected, but in order to do this they had to seat a contesting delegate from Lauderdale county, whose election depended on a convention held at 6:30 a. m. by eight men, who assembled without notice to any voters."

A colored man was being questioned by Heney when a new row broke out.

"You don't know of your own knowledge," said Heney, "whether an officer stopped the Roosevelt man."

"I know of my own knowledge that I didn't see it," was the answer.

"That's right," shouted Chubb, of Florida, "you can't bulldoez him."

"Bulldoze!" shouted Heney in disgust. "I would like to get you on the stand just a moment."

The delegates from the Eighth district were also awarded to Taft, giving him twelve for the day from Mississippi, or a total of four delegates-at-large and fourteen district delegates.

This concluded the Mississippi cases.

Missouri Cases Up.

After the Mississippi contests had been disposed of the committee took up the Missouri cases, involving four delegates-at-large and ten district delegates. The cases, particularly the contest over the delegates-at-large, presented one of the toughest problems from a purely political point of view that the committee had been called on to handle. The Roosevelt supporters in the state are headed by Governor Herbert S. Hadley.

President Taft carried Missouri four years ago by a plurality of 700 over Bryan. Governor Hadley, an energetic, progressive politician, has managed to hold it in line. With the elections coming on and with a strong chance that the Democratic presidential nominee may come from Missouri, the national committeemen are anxious to handle the situation in such a way that chances of keeping Missouri in the Republican column will not be endangered. Governor Hadley is a Roosevelt delegate-at-large and was the principal figure in the convention in St Louis. The delegation be headed was contested by Taft men who held a con-

FRAYS NERVES OF POLITICIANS

Uncertainty of Chicago Outcome Is Depicted.

WAR FOR DELEGATES IS RENEWED TODAY

Bitterness Marks Course of the Contestants.

In the Hotel Lobbies, Men from the Rival Camps Meet, Chat for a Time and Soon the All-Absorbing Topic of Battle Argument and Delegates' Fight Become Fiery. Lively Situation.

Chicago, June 13.—With the bitterness between the rival Taft and Roosevelt factions augmented by overnight charges of bribery and corruption made on both sides, the war for delegates was renewed today with increased vigor. Never before have the startled delegates from the South, arriving on the secne of a national Republican convention days before it opened, witnessed such a lively squabble for their votes. Never have the negroes among them been treated to such lavish entertainment and such solicitous care by the representatives of rival candidates.

Never has the real status of these delegations been more in doubt, and never have the big men of the party been more uncertain of the outcome. Third candidate moves have been made by the more conservative leaders of both sides, who want to "save the organization." And so far, the compromise moves have fallen flat because the two leading candidates for the nomination are backed by a partisan spirit among their followers as intense as that which in former days existed between the two great political parties themselves.

In the hotel lobbies men from the rival camps meet, chat a moment, soon take up the all-absorbing topic and their arguments become fiery. It is the outward sign of the heat that has been engendered by the situation.

Is Fraying Nerves.

The uncertainty is fraying the nerves of the politicians. They want to know who will win. The big leaders apparently, Dixon and McKinley and Penrose and Borah and the rest, are just as anxious and just as uncertain. It has all simmered down to a fight for delegates.

As the convention draws nearer, politicians express the belief that after all, the work of the Republican national committee is not going to tell the story. It has been working smoothly enough, but when Taft politicians themselves question the possible vote of some of the big men of the party who have been seated, and frankly admit that the southern delegations are shaky, the benefit derived from its work is doubtful. The seating of Taft delegates from the Fourth California district is one thing that has increased the bitterness manifested by the Roosevelt men. It has driven at least one new Republican elector, Fred S. Buggy, of the Sixth Indiana district, to declare his intention of joining the electors' bolt should the convention name any one except the colonel.

The bitterness is affecting also the status of the instructed delegates. From many districts in many parts of the country where uninstructed delegations have been named, divided votes to promote much needed party harmony are certain.

Difficult Problem.

The question of handling and landing the southern negroes has become a matter of foremost importance. The gorgeous entertainment planned for them to be held at the Auditorium theater Friday has been postponed until Monday. The convention will open Tuesday. The fact that the meeting has been postponed and that more gorgeous plans have been made for holding it has fostered in the breasts of the Taft men the belief that Roosevelt himself will arrive Monday and would address the meeting.

That this would be of real importance the Taft men concede. The fact is that the real thing that will get the southern negroes in line and hold them there is a genuine band wagon movement.

One Indiana negro politician sent to the Roosevelt negro headquarters in south State street returned and reported that the delegates were wavering.

"What they want to know," he said, "is who is going to win. They are not worrying about anything else."

Under the circumstances, Congressman McKinley's charge that Roosevelt men were trying to buy the southern delegates caused a genuine sensation. The boldness of his statement dovetailing into a situation where apparently a little "political money" would do a lot of good, found a lot of people ready to accept the charge as true.

STRIKE-BREAKER CAUSES BAD ACCIDENT IN BOSTON

Street Car Strikers Plan a Monster Demonstration.

The Boston Elevated Railway Company Refuses To Arbitrate—Service Is Curtailed, but Cars Are Run All Night.

Boston, June 13.—A crowded street car jumped the tracks on the Broadway bridge from South Boston today and one young woman was injured and taken to the hospital. A number of persons received minor injuries.

The accident was caused by the motorman a strike-breaker, running his car at high speed over the draw. The car ran twenty-five feet along the bridge and then swerved to the right toward the foot passageway and the water. The heavy protecting framework saved the car from plunging overboard.

Plans for a mass-meeting of 150,000 people in the common Sunday, to aid the car men in their strike against the elevated railway, was taken up at a meeting today of the executive boards of the Massachusetts branch of the A. F. of L., The Boston Central Labor union and the Carmen's unions.

The plans include a monster parade. Promises of support have come from all over the state, Lowell guaranteeing to send 10,000 marchers if they are needed. Samuel Gompers, president of A. F. of L., is expected to speak.

The elevated still refuses to consider arbitration. A rival transportation service has been organized by South Boston and Roxbury strikers to compete with the elevated.

Cars were run all night on all lines with a heavily-curtailed schedule.

FINDS THOUSANDS NEPPERHAN CREEK

New York, June 13.—While wading in the Nepperhan creek, in Westchester county, Fannie Aldrich, sixteen, found a box containing $2,500 which had been stolen from the paymaster of the Catskill aqueduct.

THE SUFFRAGETTES DELIVER ULTIMATUM TO REPUBLICAN PARTY IN CONVENTION

Chicago, June 13.—The suffragettes have delivered an ultimatum to the Republican party: "Support the cause of women or fight." "And we are in a position to put up a real battle," declared Mrs. Katherine Waugh McCullough, the noted suffrage leader. "Unless the Republican convention adopts a suffrage plank, we will try to wipe the six suffrage states out of the Republican column. In those states where women are prmitted to vote we are strong enough to throw our support whereever we please."

REBELS BURN CUBAN TOWN

Refugees Tell Exciting Tales in Santiago.

INSURGENTS MAKE A BLOODY THREAT

Wholesale Slaughter Planned by Generals.

Insurrecto Leaders Declare That If the Law Prohibiting Blacks from Forming Political Party Is Not Annulled by Saturday Night, All Persons Not of Negro Race Will Be Killed on Sight.

Santiago, June 13.—Refugees arriving here today from Palma Soriano in Santiago province, told an exciting story of a village near that place being burned by a band of negro men and women, who are fighting under the flag of the insurgents. Several whites were killed by the rebels and all the others were driven into nearby plantations for safety. Palma Soriano lies in the Cobre district, where the rebels are showing their greatest activity at present. It is twenty-eight miles from this city and eighteen miles north of Cobre. After the rebels had burned the town, they retreated into the Sierra Cobre mountains on the south coast, evidently joining another insurgent band.

Generals Estonez and Ivonet, who head the revolution, declare that if the Morua law, prohibiting negroes from forming a political party, is not annulled by Saturday all persons encountered by the rebels and not of the negro race will be killed on sight. The threat has aroused the fears of plantation owners to the height of intensity and renewed pleas for further protection are being made to President Gomez. If the rebels violate all rules of warfare and humanity by putting this bloody threat into execution, the United States may be compelled to intervene next week.

Looting of small plantations by the insurgents continues.

Bull Charges Motorcycle.

Egg Harbor, N. J., June 13.—While speeding on his motorcycle from Atlantic City last evening, John Parker was charged by a bull.

RIOTS REIGN IN PALERMO

Over 100 Persons Wounded in Street Clashes.

THE POPULACE RISES IN WRATH

Passage of New Law Cause of Trouble.

People March Through Streets to the Municipal Building, Where Demand Is Made That All Government Officials Resign—Carbiniers Are Called and Riots Follow. Trouble in France.

Palermo, Italy, June 13.—One hundred and fifty persons, including fifteen gendarmes, were wounded here today in rioting that caused a reign of terror over the entire city. Of the wounded a large number are women. Some of the victims will die.

The trouble arose from the passage of a law restricting maritime agreements. As the commerce of this port is heavy and fishing is a leading industry, Palermo was hard hit by the new law. The Sicilian members, representing this district, fought hard against the bill.

As soon as word of the passage of the measure was received here, the populace rose in wrath and marched through the streets to the municipal building where a demand was made that all government officials resign at once. The rioters threatened to burn the buildings.

Carabiniers and gendarmes were called and fired into the ranks of the strikers. Instead of being awed, the gunplay only heightened the wrath of the people. After several hours of fierce fighting, the mobs were finally scattered and the ringleaders arrested.

A general strike has been ordered.

Terrier Is Lost.

New York, June 13.—A $500 Airedale terrier belonging to Mrs. J. G. Tower, of Tuxedo, bolted from the Ritz-Carlton hotel last evening, and has not been seen since.

To Get Education.

Philadelphia, June 13.—Having sold newspapers for twelve years and saved $2,600, Wendell Soey will enter college in the fall.

IS STRICKEN DUMB AT DAUGHTER'S BIER

Baltimore, June 13.—While gazing into a coffin for a last look at her daughter, Mrs. Grace Hennock, of Woodlawn, fell into convulsions. When she regained consciousness, it was learned she was stricken dumb.

STAR WITNESS HELPS STATE

Darrow Defense, Also, Claims Benefit.

FRAME-UP CHARGED BY DEFENSE TODAY

While the Prosecutor Proceeds with Program.

Counsel for Darrow Attempts To Show Jury That Franklin Is Fully Aware of the Presence of Officers and Declares That Alleged Bribery of Jury Is Simply a Frame-Up by the State.

Los Angeles, June 13.—Samuel L. Browne, chief of the bureau of criminal investigation of the district attorney's office, who personally arrested Bert Franklin at the time of the Lockwood bribery, has proved to be a star witness in the Darrow trial, with both sides claiming the most benefit. Browne testified Darrow said to him:

"You do the best you can for us, and I will take care of you." This the state regards as in effect a confession of guilty knowledge and an offer of a bribe to Browne.

"If I had known this was going to happen," Darrow said, according to Browne, "I never would have allowed it to be done."

This, say counsel for the defense, shows conclusively that Darrow was not a party to the bribery.

And to prove this point, Chief Counsel Earl Rogers will undoubtedly place Darrow on the stand to swear that he knew that Browne had gathered incontrovertible evidence against the McNamaras. Consequently, to suppose that Darrow would approach Browne in the manner Browne testified, is inconceivable.

Browne's flat contradiction of Franklin's and Lockwood's testimony as to the manner of passing the bribe money is an important point in favor of the defense. Further contradiction of Franklin's testimony was secured through the cross-examination of Detective Ong, of the district attorney's force, and City Detective George Home. Franklin had stated he saw only Detective Campbell on the morning of the bribery. Ong and Home both testified they met and recognized Franklin near Third and Los Angeles streets just prior to the arrests and were in turn recognized by Franklin.

Attorney Appel, of the defense, resumed the cross-examination of Ong this morning, following a line of questions by which he hoped to further convey to the jury that Franklin was fully aware of the presence of the officers and that the alleged bribery was a frame-up.

THE PIPE LINES ARE HELD TO BE COMMON CARRIERS

By Ruling of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The Commission Decides That the Business Is Not Divested of Its Interstate Character by Placing Ownership of Lines Elsewhere.

Washington, June 13.—Pipe lines transporting oil in interstate commerce were held to be common carriers by the Interstate Commerce commission today subject to the commerce act, even though the lines be on privately acquired rights-of-way, and carry their owners' oil. The commission ruled the business is not divested of its interstate character by placing ownership of the lines in a different corporation in each state and by transferring title to each of such corporations, with the entrance of oil into the pipe lines of one state corporation from those of another.

The Union Oil company, Associated Oil company, the Associated Pipe Line company and fifteen other companies, subsidiaries of the Standard Oil company, of New Jersey, are ordered to file with the commission schedules of their rates and charges.

The Silver Market.

New York, June 13.—Bar silver, 61½; Mexican dollars, 48.

SIDELIGHTS ON THE CONVENTION

Gentle and Bulldog Character of Delegates.

SUFFRAGE PLAYS PART IN BATTLE.

Some of Arguments Heard Are Amusing.

Politicians Gather Every Place and Any Place in the Windy City and for Few Hours Daily, or Nightly, They Dismiss the Convention Subject To Discuss Other Phrases More Interesting.

Chicago, June 13.—George A. Knight, California national committeeman and battler for Roosevelt, is a powerful man politically and physically. He is built like a giant, has a typical golden state ruddiness of complexion and a winning smile. The last disappears, however, when he talks about steam rollers. He is here with his dander mounting another notch with each "crunch" of the Taft roller. But beneath the war paint of the western leader is a gentler side of his nature. It speaks out from behind his political armor when he talks suffrage. He's for the women and all the time.

"Out in California we saw no real reason why the women should not vote," Knight said. "We believed they were entitled to enfranchisement and they've proved it now that they've had the chance. If women are the same in other states, which, of course, I'm not able to say, why shouldn't they be given the ballot everywhere? A woman is a primal factor in modern day affairs and why should she not have her place at the polls?"

A "Touch" Is Made.

Chicago, June 13.—Every place and any place has been turned into a political hob-nobbing station during the big convention time here. Perhaps the most unique was discovered by Gifford Pinchot and former Governor Pardee, of California, Roosevelt enthusiasts, the other day. They hied themselves across Michigan avenue and sequestered themselves on one of the benches that overlook the Illinois Central tracks opposite the Congress hotel. On every side of them happened to be other conferees, but these were members of the usual "bo" class to be found asleep or awake on most empty benches. Two of these, spying Pinchot and Pardee, sought them out when they were in the midst of their conference to make a "touch." They were successful.

Amusing Argument.

Chicago, June 13.—Politicians were amused in the Congress lobby today when they overheard an argument on Kansas. It was between Governor Stubbs and Colonel E. J. Crull, a Taft delegate from Roundup, Montana. The colonel is one of the millionaires of the Musselshell county district. But he was not always a millionaire, according to his story and the argument.

Colonel Crull, it seems, landed for the first time in Kansas when he was a young man and had made a few unfortunate financial moves which left him in poverty. The result was that he lost out with the girl he wanted to marry and drifted on to Montana, where he found more prosperity.

Governor Stubbs would not concede a point disparaging his state and told his opponent that he should have waited in coming to Kansas until the irrigationists had reclaimed the state.

Story on Shannon.

Chicago, June 13.—Walter Evans, Missouri oil inspector, here for the convention, tells a story about Joe Shannon, of Kansas City, chairman of the county Democratic committee where he lives.

"Shannon was here four years ago and found himself without a ticket for the convention," the story goes. "This didn't change his desire of having a seat in the hall, and so he began to barter with a Texan negro who as alternate from his district, possessed the pasteboard which was the entree to the hall.

"After dickering for half an hour he bought the ticket for six dollars and won a seat."

New Must Look Out.

Chicago, June 13.—"Jim" Burling, an ardent Roosevelt booster of Montana, is looking for Colonel Harry New, chairman of the committee on arrangements in charge of the convention, and if he finds him the colonel might as well say his prayers. The westerner met the colonel in the lobby of the Congress hotel and confided to him that he could get together seventy-five of the noisiest cowboys west of Butte and bring them on to help stampede the convention for Roosevelt if he could.

BODIES OF NINE PERSONS FOUND

Murdered in Home of an Iowa Merchant.

DOGS' BARKS LEAD TO GHASTLY FIND

All of the Victims Have Skulls Crushed.

Neighbors Express Belief That Crime Is Committed by Tramps Who Are Refused Food, but Police Scout This Theory and Investigation Is Started—Two Women Are Among the Victims.

Des Moines, Ia., June 10.—The bodies of nine persons, all of whom had apparently been murdered by having their skulls crushed with an ax or some other heavy instrument, have been found in the home of J. B. Moore, a hardware merchant, of Villisca, in southwestern Iowa, according to a telephone message received from there today.

Discovery of the bodies was made by neighbors whose attention was attracted by the barking of dogs. The police placed the house under guard and refused to give out any of the details of the wholesale tragedy until a thorough investigation could be made.

Neighbors of the Moore family expressed the belief that the murders had been committed by tramps who had been refused something to eat, but the authorities are slow to accept this theory. Among the victims were two women.

PROBLEMS FOR THE BOARD OF EDUCATION

Richwood Board Is Having Its Troubles.

SEVERAL QUESTIONS MUST BE DECIDED

It Is Necessary To Enlarge the Present High School Quarters—John Jerew Is the Victim of a Very Serious Accident—Some Richwood News Notes.

Richwood, June 12.—[Special.]—The Richwood board of education is struggling with some difficult problems. At the regular meeting, Wednesday evening, the members discussed several important questions, but took no definite action on any of them. The local school fund is almost exhausted and it will take a great deal of careful planning to keep the schools up to their present high standard. A new heating apparatus must be placed in the building before winter, an extra high school teacher must be employed and it will be necessary either to erect a new building or to enlarge the present high school quarters in order to accommodate the large number of pupils. The schools were overcrowded the past year and it has become necessary to do something to better conditions.

Miss Crystal E. Daniels and Mr. L. Everett Bice were united in marriage, Thursday, by Rev. E. E. Pedicord, a former minister of the First Christian church at Richwood, at his home in West Mansfield. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Daniels and is an attractive and highly-respected young woman. Previous to her marriage she was employed as bookkeeper by the Peet Hardware company. The groom is proprietor of a barber shop in Green Camp, where he and his bride will reside.

Miss Mildred Kyle, of Ostrander, has been the guest of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Kyle, since Friday.

Mrs. Catharine Dodge, of Cleveland, has been the guest of her daughter, Mrs. B. C. Roberts, since Thursday.

Mrs. Riley Roush, of Urbana, has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. S. E. Phinney, during the past few days.

Mrs. Anne Mather has been the guest of her daughter, Mrs. D. E. Thornton, and family, of Marysville, during the past few days.

J. A. Phillips was in Urbana, Thursday, in attendance on the thirty-second annual reunion of the Ohio Association of Union ex-Prisoners of War. Only forty-four of the veterans were able to attend the reunion.

John Jerew was painfully injured, Saturday morning, at his home in the northern part of the village, while cleaning a revolver. Thinking the weapon was unloaded, he handled it somewhat carelessly. It contained a cartridge and was accidentally discharged. The bullet struck the young man just above the right eye, plowed under the skin of the forehead and scalp, and lodged in the ceiling of the room in which he was working. Dr. L. L. Roebuck was called and he was compelled to take several stitches in the wound. The victim of the accident is about twenty years old and is a son of Jesse Jerew. He has been employed on the paved streets.

Mrs. G. S. Monroe, of Portsmouth, arrived here, Saturday, to spend several days with her husband, who is contractor for the street paving jobs here.

Robert Lenox, of Columbus, is spending a few days with his father, O. P. Lenox.

Mrs. J. H. Thompson went to Columbus, Saturday, to spend a few days with her son, Ernest Thompson, and wife.

County Treasurer H. J. Brooks, of Marysville, visited his son, Dr. J. P. Brooks, and family, Friday.

Mrs. Ella Russell, of Terre Haute, Mrs. William Pettey, of Indianapolis, Mrs. Jane Lavendar and Mrs. Lulu Neumeyer, of Prospect, spent several days at the home of James Dugan, during the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. George Montgomery have had as their guests, during the past week, Mrs. Albert Randall and children, of Marysville.

Mrs. Fred Pinney, at her home on Wood street, was hostess to the Loyal Women's Sunday-school class of the First Christian church, Wednesday evening. Aside from the members of the class a number of invited guests were entertained. An interesting program was rendered, after which the company enjoyed a very delightful social hour and refreshments were served.

Mrs. Mary Rodgers left, Thursday, for Cleveland, where she will spend several days with her son, Ray Rodgers and family.

Miss Olive Sinkey arrived here, Thursday, from Columbus, to spend a few weeks with her mother, Mrs. S. E. Sinkey. Miss Sinkey spent the past ten months at Atlantic City.

Miss Corinne Staley has been the guest of relatives in Marysville, during the past week.

Mrs. A. Hamilton was called to Claiborne, last week, by the critical illness of the infant son of her daughter, Mrs. George Moore.

Mrs. Pearl Chapman, of Chicago, arrived here a few days ago, for a visit of several weeks with her mother, Mrs. Charles Shipley, and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Norris were in Delaware, Saturday, in attendance at the funeral of the former's sister, Mrs. V. T. Kingman, who died Thursday morning.

Mrs. Daisy Black, of near Radnor, spent Saturday with friends in Richwood. Mrs. Black, who passed through a critical illness in Richwood, a few weeks ago, is slowly recovering her health.

W. H. Lake suffered a serious accident, Thursday afternoon, at his home two miles west of Richwood. He fell from a ladder leading to the upper floor of a granary, falling on his head. He was rendered unconscious and for a time it was thought that his injuries would prove fatal. Dr. H. C. Duke was called and it was some time before the unfortunate man rallied. Although no bones were broken, he was badly bruised and it will be several days before he will be able to leave his room.

James Dugan, whose wife died very suddenly at Prospect, several days ago, sold his household goods at public sale, Saturday afternoon, on the Westheimer premises, on north Franklin street. Mr. Dugan has been employed by paving contractors, in Urbana, for several weeks past.

Richwood Lodge, No. 143, I. O. O. F., will hold its annual memorial service, Sunday, June 16, and all Odd Fellows and Rebekahs are invited to participate.

Mr. and Mrs. I. N. Campbell, of North Lewisburg, former residents of Richwood, visited friends here, Saturday.

Pearl Donohoe died at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Iva Donohoe, of west Ottawa street, Saturday morning at 10 o'clock, after an illness of several months, of tuberculosis. Early last spring the young man contracted a severe cold, from which he never recovered. During the early part of his illness he believed he would fully recover, but toward the end he realized that death was inevitable. He was born July 30, 1878, and had spent the greater part of his thirty-three years of life in Richwood. He was unmarried and besides his parents he leaves two brothers and one sister, Harvey Donohoe, of Richwood; Charles Donohoe, of Columbus, and Mrs. Bert Spring, of Cincinnati. Funeral services were held from the late home, Monday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, Rev. C. B. Cramer officiating. Interment followed in Claiborne cemetery. The pallbearers were Howard Wood, Charles Weaver, Emery Cahill, Dolly Scott, O. H. Phinney and Clyde Dean, neighbors and friends of the deceased.

Thomas B. Chapman, a well-known civil war veteran of Richwood, was sixty-nine years old, Wednesday, and in honor of the anniversary the Ladies' Aid society of the M. P. church, for which the aged man served as janitor for a number of years met at his home on Clinton street. The afternoon was spent socially and refreshments were served. Aside from the members of the society, the following were present: Mrs. J. F. Stallsmith, Mrs. J. M. Horn, Mrs. W. P. Smith.

Luther Baker, of Delta, spent a few days, during the past week, with his brothers, C. W. and P. G. Baker, and families.

Mrs. O. A. Keigley left, Thursday, for London, to spend a few days with her husband's parents, Mr. and Mrs. McCrea Keigley.

Mrs. W. H. Lake and Mrs. J. F. Stallsmith very delightfully entertained the members of Lillian Hive, Ladies of the Maccabees, Wednesday evening, in Maccabee hall. The evening was spent socially and the hostesses served refreshments. Aside from the members of the lodge, the following invited guests were present: Mrs. George Day, of Chicago, Misses Ruth Stallsmith, Mary Sloop and Ruth Lake.

THE SUNDAY CLOSING LAWS ARE VIOLATED

Marion Saloonists in the Local Police Court.

DETECTIVES WORK FOR LOCAL LIQUOR DEALERS

Some Saloon Men Wish To See That Law Is Obeyed, and Bring About the Arrests—The First Arrests of Kind Since the City Becomes Wet. Police Notes.

On the affidavit of Victor C. Harris, a detective in the service of the State Liquor league, Mrs. George Ackerman, Lewis Geer and Patrick Cusick, an employe of Charles Miller, who conducts the saloon and hotel formerly conducted by Herbert Bender, on west Center street, were arrested, Monday evening, on a charge of violating the Sunday closing law.

These arrests are the first of the kind that have been made since Marion voted wet. The State Liquor league, knowing that the local dealers as a whole, were desirous of obeying the law, and feeling that the law was being broken, sent a man here to try out a number of the dealers. The arrest of the three named was the result. Mrs. Ackerman's husband appeared for her, Monday evening, and entering a plea of guilty to the charge was fined $50 and costs. The other two offenders appeared Tuesday and followed Ackerman's example, paying the same fine and costs.

Chief McDonough stated, Tuesday afternoon, that he was determined to see that the law regarding the Sunday closing was complied with and that a special effort would be made to catch any violator. In addition, Mayor Walters states that the next offender found guilty of violating the law will not get off so easy.

Otto Dennig and Charles Agard were arrested, Tuesday morning, by Chief McDonough, and taken to the city prison on a charge of fighting. The men were engaged in a fistic encounter on north Main street when the chief came along and took them in charge. The fight was the outcome of a quarrel over a bill Dennig is said to owe Agard. Agard was released to appear for hearing, that evening, while Dennig was slightly under the influence of liquor and was held at the prison.

Charles M. Tobin, sealer of weights and measures, has filed an affidavit in the mayor's court charging George Pague with knowingly and with intent to cheat, sell a short measure of potatoes to Lelah May Osborne, June 5. The arrest of Pague is the result of several complaints registered against him. Pague was given a hearing before Mayor Walters, Tuesday evening. Sealer Tobin has confiscated a large number of measures and scales and is determined to break up the short weight and measure business of some of the merchants and peddlers.

The office of the elevator of S. E. DeWolfe was entered by a thief, Monday night. Some pennies and a few stamps were taken from the cash drawer. A paper cutter and a few small articles of little value were also missing, when the place was opened next morning. Entrance to the office was gained by breaking a glass from one of the windows. The burglary was reported to the police Tuesday morning.

William Dickerson, of No. 549 north Main street, filed an affidavit in the mayor's court, Monday, charging John H. Warner with shooting within the corporate limits of the city. The plaintiff is a son of Mrs. Clara Murray, who resides in the south half of a double house, the north half being occupied by the Warner family.

The filing of the affidavit is the result of Warner shooting a bull terrier belonging to Mrs. Murray. This action was taken by Warner, after the dog had bitten his three-year-old son in the right arm. Warner was not at home at the time. After the child was bitten, the mother took the child to the residence of Dr. E. I. Brady where the wound was dressed. Later, when Warner returned home, he took his revolver and according to Mrs. Murray, shot the dog in front of the steps of the front door of her home.

Some time after the shooting, while Mrs. Warner was crossing a field with her child, Mrs. Murray censured her for the action of her husband and Mrs. Warner fainted. Neighbors rushed to her assistance and worked with her for an hour before she was revived.

Warner called on the mayor several days ago and complained of the two dogs owned and harbored at the Murray home. He stated that the mail man refused to deliver mail, and the milk man refused to deliver milk at the house because of the vicious canines.

Following the incident of Monday afternoon, the Murray woman hung a white ribbon on the front door of her home in respect for the dog, and while the dog lay in the front yard, she sat by the body and sang "God Be With Us Till We Meet Again." The body of the dog laid in the front yard until evening and Health Officer Bain went to the residence and ordered it buried. Up to noon, Tuesday, the dog was in the side yard covered with a sack.

TOWNS BURIED BENEATH ASHES

Lava and Sand Pour from an Alaskan Volcano.

REVENUE CUTTERS FURNISHING FOOD

It Is Thought Many Lives Have Been Lost.

Three Towns and Several Villages in Vicinity of Mt. Katmai and Other Volcanoes Suffer as Result of the Eruptions — Wireless Messages, Relayed from Seattle, Tell of the Disaster and Terror.

Seward, Alaska, via Tug from Kodiak, June 11.—Although Kodiak and Woody Island villages are covered with one foot of ashes from the volcano, Mt. Katmai, which is in eruption, no casualties are reported there. Several villages in range of Mt. Katmai and other volcanoes which are in eruption, however, probably sustained loss of life. There is sufficient food at Kodiak to last two weeks but the revenue cutter, Manning, is there to give any material assistance necessary. The Manniny is supplying the people with drinking water, as the water supply has been polluted by dead fish and by the flying ashes.

The tug, Printer, will return to Kodiak tomorrow with more supplies. Governor Clark has been asked to send a fleet of revenue cutters to cruise through the islands in the volcano zone to give relief.

Many May Be Lost.

Washington, June 11.—The towns of St. Paul and Wood Island in Alaska are buried beneath one foot of lava, ashes, sand and pumice stone and other villages have suffered in like manner from a volcanic eruption which, beginning June 9, lasted forty-eight hours.

Wireless messages from the revenue cutter, Rush, relayed from Seattle, report these facts and state many lives may be lost and that much damage has been done.

In his wireless message to the revenue cutter service, Captain Perry, of the Rush, says that he believes the extent of the damage "is far beyond that of any in modern history." He asks for an emergency appropriation from congress "in the name of humanity." He states that there is imminent danger of suffocation owing to the gases which cover an immense area.

Captain Perry says that so far he has been unable to ascertain from what volcanoes the eruption came.

THE ROOSEVELT CAMP TROUBLED

Consternation Reigns Among His Followers.

REORGANIZATION OF FORCES IS PLANNED

Shift in the Leadership Is To Be Made.

In Order To Make His Fight Good, Roosevelt Must Win in Contested Cases from Kentucky, Michigan and Missouri, So Battle Lines Must Be Rearranged and Changes Are To Be Made.

Chicago, June 11.—Reorganization of the field forces of former President Roosevelt, the possible coming of the colonel himself and a shift in the floor leadership of the Roosevelt men before the national Republican committee promised to take place today as a result in the Indiana delegate cases.

Kentucky cases were scheduled to come before the committee today. The contests included delegates-at-large and those representing seven districts. They are important in the colonel's fight for nomination.

In order to make his fight good, Roosevelt must win the Kentucky cases, the Michigan cases and the Missouri cases at least. The loss of Indiana was a severe blow to him—particularly from a political point of view—and so the fight before the national committee is to be reorganized. Roosevelt himself was thoroughly displeased when his representatives on the national committee voted with the Taft men to seat the contested delegates-at-large from the Hoosier state. The manner of the election of those delegates was one of the things about which the colonel has had much to say. The primary in Marion county—Indianapolis—he had characterized as one of the crookedest in the history of the country. To have his own men turn to support the Taft men in this fight was a blow at the underlying principle in the colonel's campaign.

Pleases Taft Forces.

Nothing that has happened since the national committee went into session and ground out its first day's quota of Taft votes has pleased the Taft leaders so much. And that is not all. There have been differences among the Roosevelt leaders. They have changed their plans frequently since the fight. Yesterday's moves added new dissensions. Furthermore, it has caused dissatisfaction among the contesting delegates, who are fighting for representation in the convention.

Michigan men and Kentucky leaders, who were billed to star in the next seance with the committee were so angry last night that they threatened not to go into the contests. They asserted frankly that the Roosevelt men, knowing what the real merits in the cases were, must vote with them or they would not make a fight.

The action of the floor leaders in the committee room in voting against their own contests from the very first has created surprise, and as the Taft men view it, has weakened their case.

Harry New, chairman of the subcommittee on arrangements and one of the real leaders on the Taft side, has characterized the contests brought by the Roosevelt men as "trival," almost from the first.

Don't Support Arguments.

In only a few cases have the colonel's forces voted to support the arguments of his attorneys, although they must have known before they allowed the attorneys to appear what the cases were. The Roosevelt committeemen knew, also, that the case as presented frequently did not represent the full merits of the contests especially before a committee that has carelessly shifted its rules three times admitting and excluding evidence almost at will.

The contestants assert that, knowing the merits of the cases, the committeemen should have either withdrawn the "trivial" cases or gone down fighting. The whole thing has caused consternation in the Roosevelt camp. The fact that the Roosevelt men voted on the Indiana delegate-at-large cases to establish a precedent which the other committeemen must follow when the Washington cases come up was no comfort. It was pointed out that the other committeemen have already reversed themselves frequently and they will probably do it again.

THE VINDICATION.

By William T. Ellis.

The International Sunday-School Lesson for June 16 Is "Christ's Witness of John the Baptist." Matthew 11:2-19.

A dramatic scene was witnessed in Carnegie hall, New York, a few weeks ago. On the same platform, in the presence of the religious leadership of North America, sat Dr. Josiah Strong, Dr. Washington Gladden, Dr. Walter Rauschenbusch, and Rev. Charles Stelze. These men had been for years as voices crying in the wilderness proclaiming the social mission of the church of Christ. They had been often disdained and condemned, and even their loyalty to the old gospel doubted. But in this great hour they came to their own, for the truth of their teaching was attested alike by conservative and liberal; and what they once proclaimed as a singular message is today the accepted program of the churches of Christ in America. The occasion reminded one of the vidication of John the Baptist, which is the story of today's Sunday-school lesson.

The man who goes before, the forerunner, whose business it is to clear the way for the master coming after, has to bear the brunt of conflict and the shock of opposition. John had known the wilderness life; opposition and condemnation had been his share; the end of it apparently had been a prison. Insidiously the temptation came—was it worth while; had he not made a mistake? In highest heroism he had dared all enmities; now he must die. We naturally recall, in connection with the Baptist's story, the lines of Mrs. Charlotte Perkins Stetson:

"'A man must live.' We justify
Low shift and trick and treason high,
But is it so? Pray tell me why
Life is such cost you have to buy?
In what religion were you told
'A man must live?'
There are times when a man must die.

Imagine, for a battle cry
From soldiers, with a sword to hold—
From soldiers, with the flag unrolled—
The coward's whine, this liar's lie,
'A man must live!'"

The Preacher's Doubts.

A pathetic picture is this of an inspirer depressed. The preacher of truth in doubt is a tragic figure, and yet not an uncommon one. John in grim Marcherus, on the other side of Jordan, the object of mighty Herod's vengeance, had time to brood upon all things; and insidious questionings haunted his mind. Partly this was physical: a day in the open air would have cured it. For all that, it was none the less real, and an experience through which all sensitive spirits are called to pass. Self-distrust is prompted by loneliness and hardship. The prison conditions were calculated to challenge John's certitude.

Even into the isolated dungeon of the Baptist had penetrated the news of the work of Christ. The message of a prophet and his teaching flies far and fast. Never a new exponent of a revised religion comes to these shores that his fame is not heralded on the wings of the wind. I once asked a company of English-speaking Japanese men, in an interior Japanese city, whether the name of Jesus was known throughout the land, and they were of one opinion that everybody in Japan had heard of Christ. We talked loosely about the millions of heathens who have not heard of Christ, but as a matter of fact, at the present time there are comparatively few to whom the name of Jesus is not known, although they have no understanding of gospel.

What perturbed John was the lack of kingly state about the Messiah whose advent he had heralded. The full truth about Christ is greater than even the preacher of it understands. It is wonderfully true that "the half has never been told"; even the messenger of the Master does not apprehend the entire import of the good news he bears. John was limited in his understanding by the old Jewish notion of the Messiah's character. Therefore he sent messengers to Jesus to inquire if He was in truth the Coming One, or if there was still another to be expected.

The New Gospel.

Over Sir Christopher Wren's grave in St. Paul's is a Latin inscription meaning, "If you would see his monument, look around." The work is the best tribute to the worker. Thus Jesus said to John's messengers—and we might dwell upon the fidelity of these friends of the Baptist who stood by him even in his imprisonment—that they should behold His works and bear back to their master the news of what their eyes saw. That is a practical way, within every man's grasp, of satisfying the genuineness of Christianity. These are they which testify of the power of the Redeemer—"the blind receive their sight, and the lame walk, the lepers are cleansed and the deaf hear, and the dead are raised up, and the poor have good tidings preached to them."

One point in this self-vindication of Jesus is truer today than ever before: the poor are having the good tidings preached to them. The social passion of the Saviour has come to animate anew His church. The episcopal address of the bishops to the recent General conference of the Methodist Episcopal church dwelt most vigorously upon the social aspects of Christianity. The church is today going after the last and lowest of men with a message of hope and health. The ingenuity of Christendom is being exercised to devise ways of reaching the uttermost. A passion for the poor is coming to be a touchstone of Christian zeal. Not only is the church interested to bear to them the gospel of eternal hope, but she has also addressed herself to the task of remedying the conditions that make for poverty. The future program of the church will be directed toward the creation of new industrial and social conditions wherein the gospel of Christ will be regnant.

The Oak Amid the Reeds.

I have seen the pilgrims returning from the Jordan river to Jerusalem, each bearing in his hand a bunch of the feathery plumes of the Jordan reeds. Of course they recall the words of Jesus in connection with this lesson. "What went ye out into the wilderness to behold? A reed shaken by the wind?" The question answered itself: John was no reed, but rather an oak withstanding all winds. This quality of indifference to prevailing winds won the admiration of Jesus, as it does of all men.

Occasionally Jesus was moved to irony and satire. We do not commonly think of him as using other than soft and gentle words, but listen to the keen sarcasm of this, "What went ye out for to see? A man clothed in soft raiment? Behold they that wear soft raiment are in kings' houses." Again hear Him as He pictures the people like unto children in the market place, "Wisdom is justified of all her children."

The gentle Master knew how to employ withering scorn, biting satire, and terrific invective as well as seductive invitation. Every form of speech that will convey truth should be at the service of the teacher of truth. The soldier of God needs to know how to use many weapons, even as did his Captain.

A Paradox of Greatness.

The favor of the king is the success of the servant. John won this accolade of knighthood from Him whose messenger he was. What mattered the curses of the crowd or the hate of Herod? Jesus praised him:

"Men love thee, bless thee, praise thee not;
The Master praises, what are men?"

A strange paradox was involved, in the words of Jesus, "Verily I say unto you, among them that are born of women there hath not arisen a greater than John the Baptist, yet he that is little in the kingdom of heaven is greater than he. Jesus could not resist linking the significance of John's life up to the present.

That was His way. He wanted His bearers to understand that John, greatest of the old order was not as highly privileged as those who belonged to the new kingdom which Christ Himself introduced. "It is better to enter the kingdom than to herald its coming." Or, as Dr. Alexander MacLaren puts it, "the dwarf on the shoulders of the giant sees farther than the giant; and the least in the kingdom are nearer to Jesus Christ than the men of old could ever be, because possessing the full revelation of God in Him is greater than the greatest without." The pathetic limitation of John's knowledge of Jesus is shown by the questions he asked concerning Him.

RAISES TAX ON PATENT RIGHTS

Commission Revises Methods of Assessments.

A FAR-REACHING EFFECT IS SEEN

Owen Bottle Machine Company Hard Hit.

The Company Raises Objection to Valuations Placed on Machines and When Ohio Tax Commission Investigates, It Boosts Valuation to $40,000 on Each Machine Instead of $10,000 Each.

Columbus, O., June 12.—In fixing a high basis for the taxation of royalty-paying machines under lease, the state tax commission has made a finding of far-reaching effect.

The finding affects primarily the Owens Bottle Machine company of Toledo, manufacturers of a machine that has put many bottle blowers out of their trade. Involved in the same question, however, are the machines used by shoe manufacturers, under lease, and on which royalties are paid, mining machinery, linotype machines and other royalty machines.

Clement C. Riley, auditor of Licking county, in an investigation of the assessment of the property of the American Bottle works at Newark, found a number of machines not owned by the company, and therefore not legally assessible against it. He found the machines were owned by the Owens Bottle Machine company of Toledo, and that they were rented to the Newark concern on a royalty basis Mr. Riley therefore assessed the machines against the Owens people and appraised them at $10,000 each.

The Toledo concern complained, but securing no reduction appealed to the state tax commission. The company filed voluminous briefs and papers contending the machines should be taxed at only $1,000, as originally returned to the auditor by it.

Most Perfect Machine.

The commission in its investigation found that the Owens machine was regarded as one of the most remarkable inventions of the age, for from the time the raw material enters the machine until the bottles come out ready for shipment, it is not touched by the hand of a workman. The cost of production of one of the machines approximates $15,000.

All of the patents except the machine were sold by the Owens Bottle Machine company to the American Bottle company, but the title to the machine was retained as security for the payment of royalty. The Owens concern put the machines out under a license to manufacture a certain kind of bottle, the style of which was named in the contract upon which the machine was let.

As all of the royalties paid the Owens concern were not attributable to the machines alone, the commission was compelled to ascertain what proportion of the royalty was attributable to the machine. It found an average of 40 per cent of the total royalty, or about $4,000 a year for each machine, was paid the Owens company.

The commission immediately reappraised the value of the machines at $40,000, making a total assessment on the 27 machines used by the American Bottle works at $1,058,840, as against the $27,000 value returned by the company and $270,000 as returned by the county auditor, and has certified its findings to the auditor of Licking county, with instructions to correct his duplicate accordingly.

JOHN WOLFINGER DIES AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Dies at His Home in Waldo Township, Tuesday Night.

John Wolfinger, aged seventy-six years, eleven months and five days, died of bronchitis and complications at his home in Waldo township, Tuesday night at 11:15 o'clock. He had been ill several months and his death was not unexpected.

The deceased was a son of the lat John and Barbara Wolfinger and was born and daised in Waldo township.

Mr. Wolfinger was married to Miss Elizabeth Maechtle, October 27, 1859. She died about two years ago. He is survived by one son, J. J. Wolfinger, of Waldo township; one brother, Christian Wolfinger, of west Columbia street; two sisters, Mrs. Margaret Anselment, of Green Camp and Mrs. John Click, of south State street, this city

The deceased was a member of the Trinity Lutheran church at Bethlehem. He had followed the occupation of farming all of his life.

The funeral services were held at the Trinity Lutheran church at Bethlehem, Friday morning at 9:30 o'clock, Rev. Mr. Mollenauer officiating. Short services were held at the late residence at 9 o'clock. Interment was made in the Marion cemetery.

VERY PRETTY WEDDING AT ST. MARY'S CHURCH

Miss Mary Thieken Weds Mr. William D. Jenner.

REV. FATHER DENNING PERFORMS CEREMONY

A Wedding Breakfast Is Served at the Home of the Bride's Parents Following the Ceremony—Only Members of Family Are Entertained at Breakfast.

A very pretty wedding was celebrated at St. Mary's Catholic church, Wednesday at 8 o'clock, when Miss Mary Thieken was united in marriage to Mr. William D. Jenner. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Joseph Denning in the presence of a large company of friends and relatives. As Miss Nona Kelly played the wedding march, the bride and groom with their attendants, Miss Mary Lawrence, an intimate friend and Mr. Elmore Thieken, a brother of the bride, proceeded up the aisle to the altar which was decorated with cut flowers. The bride was gowned in white messaline, and carried a bouquet of white roses, while her bridesmaid wore a white embroidered dress and carried pink carnations.

After the wedding, a breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Thieken, of Lee street, only the immediate relatives being present. The table was decorated with carnations, ferns and smilax, carrying out a color scheme of pink and green. The gifts received were many and beautiful.

Mrs. Jenner is a lovable young woman and is a favorite with her friends. She is a graduate of St. Mary's parochical school of the class of 1910. Mr. Jenner is a son of Mr. and Mrs. David Jenner, of Bennett street, and is employed in the Marion Steam Shovel shops.

Y. M. C. A. TRUSTEES HOLD A MEETING

But Little Business Is Given Attention.

The Y. M. C. A. board of trustees met at the building on south State street, Tuesday evening. Not much business was transacted, as the board is waiting until the new general secretary, L. R. Burdge, takes his office, before it attempts to do anything. Mr. Burdge is expected to come here July 1. Some bills were presented and were ordered paid. Some complaint was made as to the difficulty in securing the money which was pledged toward the improvement of the building.

The next meeting of the board will be held Tuesday, July 9.

MARION'S OLD WELL IS FILLED WEDNESDAY

Town Pump Is Located in Well in the Years Gone.

An abandoned well, at Center and Main streets, where Marion's celebrated town pump was located a quarter of a century ago, was filled with old brick and dirt by municipal employes Wednesday. This is the well which is believed to have been mainly responsible for the explosion that tore up the sidewalk and injured several pedestrians last October. The well harbored sewer gas, which is said to have caused the explosion when a match was lighted near it. It was filled at the direction of Street-and-Sewer Commissioner George Blum.

TEN PERSONS ARE HURT IN WRECK

Freight and Passenger Clash Near Massachusetts Town.

Clinton, Mass., June 11.—Ten persons were injured, two seriously, in a collison of a freight and a passenger train just west of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railway station here today. The freight train was backing out of the yard onto the main line when struck by the passenger train.

An investigation as to the cause of the wreck is now being made.

TWO DIE WHEN BIPLANE FALLS

Army Aviator's Neck Broken in Trial Flight.

AN INSTRUCTOR HAS HIS SKULL CRUSHED

The Cause of the Accident Is Not Determined.

While at a Height of Only Fifty Feet, but Going at Speed of Fifty Miles an Hour, Machine Suddenly Dips and Occupants Are Dashed to Death—An Investigation Is To Be Made.

Washington, June 12.—While testing a new Wright biplane at College Park, Md., Lieutenant Leighton W. Hazelhurst, Jr., an army aviator, and Albert W. Welsh, a professional flyer, were dashed to death from a height of 50 feet while the machine was going about 50 miles an hour. It suddenly pitched forward and the occupants were hurled to the ground. When spectators reached the scene of the accident it was found that both men were dead. Lieutenant Hazelhurst's neck was broken and Welsh's skull was crushed. The machine was badly shattered.

The cause of the accident unknown, though it is believed that some of the supporting wires between the planes snapped suddenly and caused it to plunge forward. An investigation will be held today to determine the cause of the accident.

The death of Lieutenant Hazelhurst is the third that has occurred among the army aviators. Lieutenant Thomas C. Selfridge was killed at Fort Myer in a Wright biplane in September, 1908, and Lieutenant John Kelly was killed at San Antonio, Tex., in March, 1911.

Aviator Welsh had been at College Park for several days demonstrating a new Wright biplane to the army aviators. Under the regulations the machine was required to meet rigid tests. Nine of these requirements had been successfully met an Welsh, with Lieutenant Hazelhu as his passenger, was on the te test when the machine collapsed pitched the men to the earth.

BIDS FAREWELL TO HIS OHIO WORKERS

Dr. Joseph Clark Talks at Sunday-School Convention.

Columbus, O., June 12. — Sunday school leaders predict 10,000 marchers in the parade of men honoring Bible study this evening. The record parade was 13,000 marchers in Cleveland, while the preceding convention marched 7,000 at Dayton.

The music of the convention is a feature. Homer Rodaheaver, who is well known as Billy Sunday's right-hand man, is leading the delegates and visitors in examples of gospel singing as it should be sung, and occasionally he takes a trombone in hand and leads the singing, varying the severe strains of the hymns with fanciful variations. The piano accompaniment is done by Charles H. Gabriel, Jr., son of the famous gospel song composer.

Last night's services opened with a Rodaheaver series of songs. Drs. W. O. Thompson and Luther B. Freeman welcomed the convention. Dr. Lansing spoke on "The Spiritual Value of Social Service, and President Henry C. King of Oberlin college talked on "Facing the Facts of Life."

One of the leading features of today's session was the farewell address of Dr. Joseph Clark, who for 13 years has administered the affairs of the association and who now goes to New York to become superintendent of the New York State Sunday School association. Thousands of Dr. Clark's friends were present to bid him farewell. Immediately after his address, in which he thanked the Sundayschool workers of the state for their hearty co-operation in the work, Dr. Clark left for Batavia, N. Y., where he will be introduced to his new constituency.

The convention represents 8,000 Sunday schools with an enrollment of 1,250,000 pupils.

ROOSEVELT FAVORS WOMAN'S SUFFRAGE

Says He Will Incorporate It in His Platform.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., June 12.—Theodore Roosevelt today came out for woman's suffrage and declared he would incorporate a plank to that effect in the platform which he intends to present to the Republican national convention in Chicago. The ex-president first made his announcement through Judge Ben Lindsay, of Denver, after a two-hour conference, and later personally confirmed it to the newspaper men. Judge Lindsay said:

"Colonel Roosevelt has been moved to declare in favor of giving the ballot to the women by the excellent work the women voters in Colorado, California and other western states have wrought in the interests of clean government. He is preparing a plank to this effect which will be part of the platform he will present to the Chicago convention."

"Judge Lindsay's statement is correct in every particular," said Mr. Roosevelt.

THREE DEAD AND FIFTY INJURED

In Excursion Train Wreck in Tennessee.

TWO COACHES GO OVER EMBANKMENT

Fireman and Porter Among the Killed.

The Wrecked Train Is Filled with Georgians Enroute to a Picnic in Tennessee and Is Derailed When It Reaches a Stretch of Track Where Repairs Are Being Made. Six Believed Fatally Hurt.

Chattanooga, Tenn., June 12.—Three railroad employes were killed and more than fifty passengers injured when an excursion train on the Western & Atlantic railroad was wrecked near Dalton, Georgia, today. The injured are being cared for in the homes of Dawson citizens. Early reports said the loss of life had been heavy.

The wrecked train was a picnic train. Two cars went over the embankment. The engine and five cars were derailed. Fireman Holcomb, a negro porter and a section man were killed. Fifty passengers were hurt.

The wreck occurred a mile and a half north of Dalton. The section hands were at work on the tracks when the train rushed upon them and before the men had time to get out of danger the cars were piling over them.

At least six of the injured passengers are believed to be fatally hurt. Dalton has been turned into a big hospital and the young women have volunteered their services as nurses to care for the injured. Two relief trains have gone to the wreck.

The coaches were heavily loaded and it is considered miraculous that the number of dead was not greater.

The train was bringing to Chattanooga 300 members of the Knights of Pythias and friends from Calhoun, Georgia.

BELMONT COUNTY UNIONS PROTEST

Don't Want Convicts To Work on Roads of State.

St. Clairsville, O., June 12. — Belmont county commissioners are between two fires—the pleading of 1,000 idle convicts at the Ohio penitentiary for work to save them from sheer madness, and the opposition of union labor throughout the county to employing 200 of the prisoners on constructing a state road from Belmont to Morristown.

The state highway department is trying to force the use of the convicts, setting forth that unless they are employed the state will not be able at this time to help in constructing the road.

Word from Columbus is that several counties are facing similar propositions. Carroll county, which has accepted the offer of 50 convicts, has not yet received them because the prison management has failed to provide tents in which to shelter them.

RELIEVES FEELINGS BY KILLING TWO

Columbus Negro Commits Murder When Wife Leaves Him.

Columbus, O., June 12.—In a jealous rage Bud M. Anderson, colored, 30, shot and killed his wife and Joe Clark, who he asserted, had been paying attention to her, and probably fatally wounded Miss Mary Howard, his sister-in-law. He shot at a fourth person, "Kid" Clark, colored, friend of the other Clark, but missed. He is under arrest.

The tragedy was enacted in two scenes. The shooting of the women occurred in East Fifth avenue and the murder of Clark was committed on the steps of a saloon at Nineteenth street and Chase avenue.

According to Anderson's story to the police, the two Clarks, concerning whom he said he knew nothing, had been paying secret attention to his wife and her sister. He charged that, because of one of the men, his wife left him.

SUSTENANCE FOR 10,000 PERSONS

To Be Rushed to the Alaskan Volcano Victims.

BLANKET OF ASHES DEVASTATES LANDS

And All Vegetation Is Said To Be Destroyed.

Six Villages Are Reported Buried Under Twenty Feet of Lava and Ashes and Loss of Life Will Probably Reach 300—Rescue Ships Hurry to Scene of Devastation To Aid the People There.

Seward, Alaska, June 12.—Every steam vessel along the Alaskan coast was turned into a rescue ship today and dispatched at full speed to Kodiak island where 200 persons are reported to have been overwhelmed by ashes from Katmai volcano. Refugees who have reached Uyak during the past twenty-four hours assert that the six villages of Cold Bay, Katmai, Kanatuk, Douglas, Savoonsky and Kamgamute are buried beneath twenty feet of ashes and that at least half of their 438 inhabitants have perished.

The situation at Woody island, on which 168 fishermen and their families live, is unknown, but it is feared that all have been suffocated by the devastating blanket of ashes.

The fall of ashes had materially decreased today allowing the rescue ships to travel rapidly without fear of disaster. Detonations from the four volcanoes along the coast continue, however.

All vegetation has been destroyed by the ashes and it will be necessary for the government to provide sustenance for 10,000 persons.

SUIT IS APPEALED TO CIRCUIT COURT

Proceeding as to Property of Late Michael Leffler.

Wednesday the unusual suit of Margaret A. Lill, Clara L. Butz and Mary C. Mechler, plaintiffs, against Anna Catherine Leffler, William B. Leffler and other defendants, wherein the children of Michael Leffler's first wife seek to share in their father's property, was appealed from the common pleas to the circuit court.

CORNELIUS O'BRIEN DIES IN COLORADO

Death Comes as Great Shock to Friends in Marion.

Cornelius O'Brien, forty-nine years old, son of John O'Brien, Sr., residing at Greenwood and George streets, died at Calahan, Colorado, Tuesday afternoon at 12:30 o'clock. The cause of his death is not known, but it is thought to have been due to acute indigestion, although he had been ill for some time.

The deceased was born in this city, February 9, 1863. He passed the greater part of his life in the West, but had often visited here and was well known. The last time he came home he remained here about two years, during which time he was employed by the Huber Manufacturing company. Two years ago he went to Wayne, Colorado, for the benefit of his health and to assist his brother, Daniel, in developing a homstead claim. His health, improved, and the news of his death came very unexpectedly. He is survived by his aged father, John O'Brien, Sr., of Marion; two sisters, Mrs. John O'Donnell and Mrs. J. B. Hoover, and eight brothers, Daniel, of Wayne, Colorado; Thomas, of Barberton; Patrick, of Middletown, New York; George, of Boston; Timothy, Richard, John and William O'Brien, of Marion.

The remains were buried in Colorado.

PROCEEDINGS IN THE COMMON PLEAS COURT

Mrs. William A. Lucas Begins Suit for Divorce.

THE PLAINTIFF WANTS CUSTODY OF CHILDREN

Defendant in the Divorce Suit of Meta K. Gast Against Neil J. Gast Files an Answer and Cross Petition—Other Common Pleas Court Items of Interest.

Nora Lucas, through Mouser & Moloney, brought an action for a divorce from William A. Lucas in the court of common pleas Wednesday. The plaintiff and the defendant were married, February 14, 1891 and they have two children, a boy, aged sixteen, and a girl, aged thirteen years. She charges her husband with cruelty because, commencing about ninteen years ago, he began without reason to accuse her of criminal intimacy with men hired to work for him, and who lived at their home. She says she has endured his cruelty all these years for the sake of their children and that her marital happiness has been blighted.

The plaintiff says the defendant is the owner of a farm in Grand Prairie township reasonably worth $14,000. He is also the joint owner with the plaintiff of a valuable tract of land on which is located a stone plant, in Grand Prairie township, valued at $10,000. The defendant owns personal property valued at $1,000 according to the petition.

The plaintiff asks for a divorce, alimony and the custody of the children.

In the divorce suit of Meta K. Gast against Neil J. Gast, the defendant, through Mouser & Moloney, Wednesday, in the court of common pleas, filed an answer and cross-petition. For his answer the defendant sets up a general denial and in his cross-petition, he says she left him and went to Covington, Kentucky, because of the persuations of her father, C. M. Schaaf. At the time, he says, his wife was enfeebled, mentally and physically, but was receiving the defendant's kindliest care and treatment. He further says that his wife seemingly lost all affection for him while she was living with her father. He declares she left her home, not because of any neglect or fault on his part, but because she was incited to do so by her father. He asks for a divorce and custody of the child, who is now in his care and control.

In the suit of Lawson H. DeLauder against Carrie Shaw and others, an action to marshal liens on a contract, the defendants, through DeGolley & DeGolley, have filed a motion to require the plaintiff to set out in full in his petition the original contract between the plaintiff and the defendant.

A motion to require the plaintiff Joseph Owens, to secure the costs, has been filed by the defendant, through Carhart & Warner, in the suit of Joseph Owens against the Cleveland, Cincinati, Chicago & St. Louis Railway company.

ANNUAL CLASS-DAY EXERCISES ARE HELD

An Excellent Program Given by Graduating Class.

A LARGE AUDIENCE ENJOYS AFTERNOON

The Hall is Beautifully Decorated in the Class Colors of Red and White. A Pleasing Tribute Is Paid Rev. Father Joseph Denning—A Picnic Thursday.

The annual class-day exercises of St. Mary's parochial schools were held in the school auditorium, Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, and the excellent program was greatly enjoyed by an audience of over 100. A number of relatives of the graduates, from out of the city, were in attendance.

The hall was beautifully decorated in the class colors of red and white great bouquets of syringa and red peonies carrying out the color scheme.

Only the members of the scientific course took part in the program, the graduates being Misses Mary Griffin, Mary McFarland, Helen Kirchner and Alice Mortell. The address of welcome was given by Miss Mary McFarland Miss McFarland had her address prepared in poetry, and in a very sweet manner and pleasing voice made everybody welcome. The members of the High school then sang, "A Hymn to the Sacred Heart." Miss Victorine Curran presided at the piano.

Miss McFarland again came forward and in the same gracious manner delivered her essay, "Poetry and Culture." She had prepared her essay with much care and thought and told of what effect poetry had in its general influence on man. She named a number of different authors whose names are famous in history, and whose poetry is quoted far and wide. She spoke of the influence the writings of these men have had in the culture of the world. In closing, she said that, although many could not appreciate the deeper poems yet there were many simple poems whose beauty could find its way into any heart.

A Fine Reading.

The next on the program was a recitation, "Madonna at Palos," by Miss Alice Mortell. Miss Mortell gave her reading in a most entertaining way, and it was greatly enjoyed. She has a fine delivery and spoke in a clear and distinct voice. Miss Margaret Drake played the musical accompaniment.

The school sang, "Drifting with the Tide," accompanied at the piano by Miss Agnes Molloy. This was a very pretty song

"The Benediction" was the subject of Miss Helen Kirchner's recitation. This also had a musical accompaniment and Miss Agnes Molloy presided at the piano. Miss Kirchner did exceedingly well, her manner of delivery, and her pleasing personality winning much favor throughout her recital.

Miss Mary Griffin followed with an essay on "Christian Education," taking for her subject a quotation from Pope, "'Tis Education Forms the Common Mind' As the Twig Is Bent, the Tree's Inclined." She spoke beautifully and held the attention of the audience for about half an hour. She told of the good results that come from a Christian education, and of how the schools of the Catholic church, today, have all the facilities for a fine Christian education. At the close of her essay, she paid a high tribute to Rev. Father Denning, the parents of the graduates, the teachers of the schools and to the members of her class. She told of how they had ascended the ladder from grade to grade, until now they were standing on the top round of their school life. But they had not forgotten to cast a loving glance down into that happy care-free epoch of their school days with its many pleasant reminiscences in which are interwoven the names of pastor, teacher and schoolmates.

A Pleasing Tribute.

In paying her beautiful tribute to Rev. Father Denning she said, "To whom are we indebted for all this? We are indebted to our parents for much of our early training, but chiefly to our saintly pastor, Father Denning To you father, we owe all You have plodded along all these years and watched over us with loving care and, today, we ask you to forgive us all the unpleasantness we have caused you. We place at your disposal ourselves and all we have" No greater tribute could be paid the pastor than these words so fittingly spoken by one who is about to leave the school life to go out into a larger life. Her praise was quite lengthy and Rev Mr. Denning was deeply touched.

The farewell chorus by the school closed this unusually fine program.

Earlier in the afternoon, the pupils of the second grade entertained the first, second and fourth grades, with a program of recitations and songs

The whole school, the teachers, the pastor and a number of parents and other relatives of the children enjoyed a picnic at Lincoln park, Thursday. Over 400 enjoyed the pleasures of the outing, games of all kinds, swinging, baseball and other amusements making the day one long to be remembered. At the noon hour, picnic spreads were scattered about the pavilion, the different grades grouping together

The pupils of the school will give a carnival on the lawn at the school building Monday, June 17, and with the commencement proper, Wednesday evening, the school year will close for the summer vacation.

An Intimate View of the Work on Panama Canal.

BARTLEY S. CUSIC WRITES TO BROTHER

Finds the Canal a Wonderful Piece of Work and the Country Full of Beauty—No Yellow Fever in Canal Zone and the Country Is Pleasant Place To Live.

Officer James Cusic is in receipt of a letter from his brother, Bartley S. Cusic, who is at present stationed at the Panama canal, in which he describes his recent trip to that country. Mr. Cusic has been a private in the infantry of the regular army for the past twelve years, and visited here last February, just prior to his trip to Panama, where his regiment is stationed. His letter is given in part as follows:

"I just finished a trip all over the canal and will try and explain to you what I have seen. As we left Colon, and the train gained in speed, I began to look for the points of interest. There were the old French workings where a nation's hopes lay buried, the mechanical ruins which had cost millions of dollars, and the Mt. Hope cemetery. I could not but feel an interest in these, but did not let my mind wholly slip from the wonders of the landscape that slipped by on either side of the track Of course it was not my first glimpse of tropical vegetation, but it was the most wonderful that I have ever seen. The matted thickets interlocked with vines and creepers were all ablaze with blossoms of various kinds of flowers, for this is the wet season, in which nature runs riot.

Strange Trees.

"Great trees of a strange character rose out of the thickets, their branches burdened with flowering orchids, or half hidden beneath other parasites. Birds of bright plumage flashed in the glades and giant lizards scuttled away in the marshes or stared down from the overhanging branches. Farther on, across a stretch of level ground the train stopped at a great man-made canon, running from the valley above through the low ridge, and out below. Within it an army of men were at work. Along the excavations ran steel tracks, on which were mounted the movable towers I had seen at a distance, These towers held wire cables which spanned the gorge, and supported large buckets which passed at regular intervals back and forth, bearing concrete for the work below. Everywhere was a feverish activity.

"Looking to the south we could see Gatun dam, a low broad ridge linking the hills together. It does not look much like a handmade affair, but it is, and they are still dumping dirt into it. It is almost completed. The Gatun will form a lake thirty miles long containing about 200 square miles and is eighty-five feet above sea level.

View of the Locks.

"We then returned to the train and started to the other end. Here we saw two sets of locks, where practically the same work was going on as at the Gatun, only not so extensive. The Gatun locks will lift or lower, as the case may be, a ship eighty-five feet to the sea or above it. We then went to the great Culebra cut where I saw the active heart of this stupendous undertaking. The low range of mountains was severed by a gorge, blasted out. In depth it was from 100 to 600 feet. From Empire to Gold hill they have from twenty to sixty feet deeper to go. Where our regiment is stationed they are down to the bottom.

"Up the mountain sides of Culebra cut were dirt and rock trains and dozens of compressed air drills. Behind these were great steam shovels at work. Nowhere was there idleness, every man was hard at work. At every switch along the tracks was a negro flagman, beneath a corrugated iron shelter which kept out alike the flying fragments and blazing sun. From beneath the drills came occasional subterranean explosions, then geysers of muddy water rose in the air. Now and then an excited tooting of shrill whistles gave warning of a bigger blast as the flagman checked the flow of traffic, indicating with the wave of arms that the ground was 'coming up.'

"The work is going on steadily and the country has been made livable at last. There is no such thing as yellow fever down here now, and there has been none since 1907."

VERY EXPENSIVE PRIMARY ELECTION

Costs Thirty-Five Cents Each To Cast Ballots.

Marion county's primary election, May 21, cost the taxpayers approximately $1,500. The total vote cast was about 4,300.

The amount of money to be paid the judges and clerks at the election totals $1,126. In addition to this the expenses of clerk hire and incidentals of the Marion county board of elections will reach several hundred dollars.

Election officials say that the heavy expense will come this fall when the general registration will be held. Four years ago this alone cost the taxpayers $2,200, and the probabilities are that it will cost considerably more this fall.

From the figures given it will be seen that the primary cost the county about thirty-five cents for each vote cast.

MRS. GEORGE WARREN PASSES AWAY FRIDAY

Death Is the Result of Protracted Illness.

Prospect, O., June 8—[Special.]—Mrs Josephine Warren, aged about forty years, widow of George Warren, who was killed in a hunting accident in this county fifteen years ago, died at the home of her mother, Mrs Elizabeth Rhodes, Friday, in Chicago She had been ill a long time.

Mrs Warren was well known in this part of the county, having resided here the greater part of her life. A telegram informing her of the death was received by Mrs. Walter Adams, an aunt of the deceased, Friday.

The remains will be brought to this place for interment. Short services will be conducted at the vault in the Prospect cemetery.

Plenty of It Has Been Done Right Here in Marion.

Cures that last are cures that tell. To thoroughly know the virtues of a medicine you must investigate the cures and see if they prove permanent. Doan's Kidney Pills stand this test, and plenty of proof exists right here in Marion. People who testified years ago to relief from backache, kidney and urinary disorders, now declare that relief was permanent and the cure perfect. How can any Marion sufferer longer doubt the evidence?

Mrs. S. L. Holverstott, 633 Park St., Marion, Ohio, says "In October 1899, I gave a statement in which I expressed my appreciation and admiration for Doan's Kidney Pills, after they had done what no other remedy had been able to do, relieving lameness and weakness in my back and kidneys. I was nervous and restless at night and in the morning felt more tired than when I went to bed Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Schmidt & Co.'s Drug store made a great change soon after I had commenced their use and in a short time I could do my housework without the least pain or inconvenience."

SCANT APPRECIATION OF BROWN'S LEADERSHIP

In a Chicago story, carried by the morning papers, Senator Dixon is calling on Walter Brown for an explanation of the loss of Ohio's six delegates-at-large, and the statement is made that the "Roosevelt leaders suspect Brown maintained his own supremacy at the expense of the Roosevelt cause." It is a fine expression of trust and gratitude for the able fight Walter Brown put up in Ohio on behalf of the colonel and his candidacy.

This paper is under no obligations and has no special prejudice in favor of Mr. Brown. On the other hand, there is excuse for prejudice against him, but a sense of fairness, which Mr. Brown himself could not grasp in his statement on the Ohio result, impels us to write that the utterance of the Chicago suspicion is the height of political indecency. Mr. Brown will hardly look for a defense from this source, but it can be truthfully written that his re-election to the chairmanship was a personal victory, which lost nothing for the Roosevelt cause in Ohio, but did come near starting a stampede among the Taft supporters. And after it was achieved, Mr. Brown went right on, clever, resourceful and designing, and came near getting away with the smartest political play attempted in Ohio in a long while.

The Roosevelt forces suspecting Walter Brown show a despicable temper and scant appreciation. We have never been carried away with the conviction that Mr. Brown was stirred by a burning desire to magnify the peoples' rule or a consuming admiration for the colonel, but if Manager Dixon and his associates know aught of politics or personalities, they will accredit to Walter Brown not only fidelity to their cause, but the greatest share of the colonel's showing of strength in Ohio, rather than intimate treachery on the part of one who has keener political sense than his superiors in this campaign.

SOME BOSSISM AND SOME INTIMIDATION

We have heard much of "bossism" from the colonel and his supporters, both in and out of Marion county, despite the fact that every Republican boss dominating a "machine" in Ohio, as well as in most of the other states, is a Roosevelt shouter. And so we wish to call attention to the most flagrant attempt at bossism and intimidation yet recorded, and it is boastingly admitted by the perpetrators. Those newspaper representatives of the money trust now backing Colonel Roosevelt in their desire to hamstring or defeat Mr. Taft—the Cleveland Leader, its echo, the Toledo Blade, and the Columbus Dispatch—carried a statement last Thursday to the effect that Senator Burton had sealed his political doom when he did not force his friends and followers in the state convention to desert Mr. Taft and join the party wreckers. They say that the senator was notified that unless he gave his influence to Roosevelt he would be retired from the senate and to private life. It is to the senator's credit, that the threat did not move him. Mr. Burton has been in public life for many years; he has seen these little bosses spring up, exercise their "little brief authority" and pass back to their native obscurity. He has seen the wind of public opinion, whipped into a gale by the rabble-rousers of the past, subside and give place to the calm of thoughtful consideration and patriotism. He has weathered every storm and ridden safely into the port of public approval, and he will do so now. Inevitably, he will retire from the public service at some time, but it will not be at the behest of that little coterie of would-be dictators, who have undertaken to dominate the Republican party of Ohio.

It becomes more and more manifest, with each succeeding day, that the Roosevelt contests are mere bluffs, their groundwork so flimsy that even the Roosevelt men on the Republican national committee refuse to consider them. It is plain that the Roosevelt people never expected to win them; that the contests were simply vehicles whereby the public might be misled. The Roosevelt people brought them simply to create a diversion from President Taft's victories, and thus, by comparison, accentuate the apparent Roosevelt victories in the tables run by the Roosevelt press. The reader will remember that, until a day or two ago, almost the Roosevelt press would concede to President Taft was 171 delegates, while they ran something like 260 in the "contested" column.

Though not a fleet base-runner, Mr. Taft is making a remarkable record in the presidential contest in the matter of runs scored.

THE IMPROVEMENT OF THE PRIMARY

The Plain Dealer, discussing improvement of the primary system, suggests that all party tests be eliminated and the voter permitted to vote any ticket or for any candidate on any ticket he desires, without regard to his party affiliation. This is the heighth of absurdity. If we are not to have party nominations by proved members of parties, why should we go to the trouble and expense of primaries? Why not nominate candidates for all places by petition and ballot for them on one ticket? Of course, believing that party rule is better than mob rule, or rule by the unorganized mass, we are opposed to the P. D. scheme or the modification of it here suggested. Under our present laws, the voter may identify himself with a party and vote at a primary to name its candidates or for delegates to represent him in the selection of that ticket. If he is not willing to qualify or to proclaim his party membership, he should have no part in a purely party function. If he desires to maintain his independence of parties he may join with others in nominating a candidate, or ticket, by petition. In any event, he has a chance at the election to review the candidates of all parties and vote his choice with secrecy and without declaration of partisanship. What more can he ask?

Our objection to the party primary as a compulsory institution is that it is too costly for the tax-payer and for the candidate, that it does not lend itself to discussion or deliberation, and that, as a rule, its results are not as satisfactory, in operation, as the convention system. The evil complained of in the convention plan was that it lent itself to the formation of "rings" and the domination of "bosses." Those who have had experience as workers under both systems admit that it is as easy to control a primary as a convention and that the evil-disposed can accomplish more under the secrecy of the primary.

A judicious combination of the two systems would have been better than either alone. Suppose that the law provided primaries for the selection of members of ruling committees of the political parties. That alone would have given annual opportunity to wipe out the "boss" and the political "ring" if the voters were sufficiently interested to do it. Then, suppose that other nominations should be made either by legalized and regulated conventions or by primaries at the option of the party committee, with the restriction, that, upon presentation of a petition signed by a reasonable percentage of the party electors, a primary must be held. Under this plan, the costly primary would only be invoked to correct party and governmental abuses. Certainly, under it, no citizen would forfeit a single right. The fact that few of the voters, proportionately, can be induced to go to the primary, shows that it is not so much desired as some persons suppose. It is just as well to bring a little common sense to bear on a proposition which has been much befogged by the professional jaw-smiths and rabble-rousers.

A Washington man holds that "The Star Spangled Banner" is not singable, because the federal house couldn't sing it. Pshaw! He could prove, by the same process, that the Lord's prayer isn't prayable.

When his Hoosier followers told him about the gross frauds out in their state, the colonel should have remembered that Indiana constitutes the heart of the fiction belt.

Since Colonel Bryan has declared that he is going to the Baltimore convention, we have begun to take more stock in his declaration that he is not a candidate for the nomination.

Begins to look as though we were going to experience one of those Northern Michigan summer resort brands of weather right here in Marion, again, the coming summer.

A few more unanimous decisions by the national Republican committee to seat Taft delegates, and even the colonel should begin to realize that his four-flushing has been called.

Judging by the returns from Chicago, it is evident, that, while the Hon. Mr. Dixon is the abler claimer, the Hon. Mr. McKinley is more successful in making his claims stick.

The contestants, apparently, never thought of introducing that red cherry incident to show the unfitness of Mr. Fairbanks to sit in the Chicago convention as one of the four delegates-at-large from Indiana.

It will be noted that we do not hear so much from the Roosevelt camp about bosses since the most notorious of all state bosses, Boss Bill Flynn, of Pennsylvania, has assumed charge of the Roosevelt forces in Chicago.

When "Uncle Joe" Cannon reads of the abuse being heaped upon the members of the national committee, regardless of their factional leanings, it must be a source of great satisfaction to him that he was content to be simply the "Czar of the House" for a time.

"The way for Colonel Roosevelt to startle the country after the convention has entered upon its deliberations," says the Ohio State Journal, "would be by not doing anything spectacular." Naturally so warm an ally as the Ohio State Journal would not have the colonel commit political hari-kari by attempting any storming stunts on the convention.

It wouldn't surprise us greatly should the colonel arrange for another lion hunt, some time next year.

If we get the figures right, there was just about as much ground for the Roosevelt contest in Marion county, Indiana, as there was in Marion county, Ohio. And we can't imagine a better way of illustrating to Marion county people the absurdity of the Rooseveltian claims.

Despite the fact that Colonel Bryan is getting up in years, it wouldn't surprise us greatly should he do the young Lochinvar act with Miss Democracy at Baltimore.

There must be times when the colonel regrets that he ever invented that steam roller.

Colonel Roosevelt gave us his unqualified assurance that there was fraud and thievery in the election of the Indiana delegates-at-large, yet, strange to say, such red-hot Roosevelt admirers as Frank B. Kellogg and Senator Borah thought so little of the justice of the claims of the Roosevelt contestants that they voted for the Taft delegates, as did all the other Roosevelt members of the national committee, for that matter.

It has been developed that it was Mr. George W. Perkins, financial backer of Colonel Roosevelt's presidential campaign, who gave out to the newspapers the stories which caused the panic leading to the demoralization of the finances of the Tennessee Iron & Coal company and made it possible for the colonel's pet trust, the United States Steel corporation, to absorb its smaller business rival. Come to think of it, the Hon. George has been giving out some stories, of late, manifestly intended to start a panic of another kind, but the public appears to be getting wise to his game.

Of course, when the so-called progressive Republican paper makes reference to the bosses, the reader will wish to be taken as meaning Boss Flynn, of Pennsylvania, the Roosevelt big noise up in Chicago at present, to "Boss" Ward, of New York or to the colonel himself, not!

The fellow who said that hope springs eternal in the human breast had an inkling that, in the days to come, Mr. Cummins was to be the presidential headquarters in Chicago.

J. FRANKLIN LAMMERS LEAVES BIG FORTUNE

A Brother of Mrs. A. M. Hutchinson of This City.

LAMMERS IS KILLED IN ALASKA RECENTLY

Is Examining Mining Claims When Caught by Snowslide—Body Is Found by Party of Prospectors, May 2—Mrs. Hutchinson Left for Buffalo Saturday Night.

As a result of the tragic death of J. Franklin Lammers, of Cordova, Alaska, thirty-five years old, reputed to be a very wealthy miner, Mrs. A. M. Hutchinson, of No. 823 east Church street, a sister, will share in his estate valued from $500,000 to $1,000,000.

Mrs. Hutchinson's brother lost his life last month, while examining some mining claims, in an Alaska snowslide in the Copper river country, twenty miles south of Kennissault. His body was found by a party of prospectors, May 2. It was lying at the edge of a snowslide. The body of his companion, James McCarthy, with whom he had started out to examine the claims with a view to purchasing them, was not recovered. It is thought to be buried far beneath the snow.

News of her brother's death and all the available particulars of the fatal accident were received by Mrs. Hutchinson in a special delivery letter Saturday.

Lammers went to Alaska from Buffalo a number of years ago. He had large interests in Alaska, California and Montana. Last March, Mrs. Hutchinson received a letter from him. In it he said that he was coming to pay her a visit this summer.

"He was my youngest brother," said Mrs. Hutchinson at her home, Saturday, "and the shock of his death is terrible."

The dead man is survived by his aged father, Elias Lammers, at Panama, New York, and six brothers and two sisters.

Lammers was a very reticient man. He went to Alaska and kept his affairs to himself. When his body was found no one knew where to notify relatives. T. M. Cartwright, of Cordova, Alaska, a business man, searched for relatives in Tacoma, Washington, and the clues he got there caused him to write to the Buffalo News for information. He forwarded a photograph. Publication of Cartwright's story, together with Lammers' picture, came to the immediate attention of Lawrence B. Lammers, a brother, who resides at No. 132 Chippewa street, Buffalo. The Buffalo brother notified Mrs. Hutchinson by special delivery letter and Mrs. Hutchinson left for Buffalo Saturday. She may go from Buffalo to Alaska.

The letter received from her brother in March was written at Butte, Montana, where he owned two mines. A short time before his death, Lammers, according to Cartwright's story, sold the Anna Maid and the Mabel H. mines in Alaska for $225,000. Lammers is said to have had considerable money on deposit in a bank in San Francisco.

Some Improvements.

The parlors of the Dodgeright Inn are being enlarged and a number of repairs are being made for the summer opening. The brick partition separating the front room from the rear of the building is being removed and the parlor greatly enlarged, to accommodate the increasing trade of the summer months.

SUGGESTS EATING FISH TO CUT COST OF LIVING.

MRS. JULIAN HEATH. MARCEAU PHOTO.

For the purpose of reducing the cost of living, Mrs. Julian Heath, president of the Housewives' League in New York, has suggested that it would be a good scheme to do away with meat temporarily and substitute fish for the principal food at all meals. She says if families will only eat fish and eggs for a while the demand for meat will not be so great, and consequently the prices will come down.

SETTLEMENT MADE IN THE LIQUOR CASES

Prosecutor Acts on Advice of State Department.

MARION COUNTY TO RECEIVE $2,160

Liquor Dealers Win in Five Cases and Lose in Nine—The Result of a Visit of a State Inspector During Local Option Term—Some Court Notes.

Liquor men won in five Dow Aikin liquor tax cases and lost in nine other similar cases in the court of common pleas, Friday morning, when Prosecuting Attorney Charles L. Justice, upon the advice of the state dairy and food department, consented to a compromise. As a result, Marion county will receive $2,160 without further litigation.

Last October, a short time before the county voted wet in the Rose local-option election, an inspector from the state dairy and food commissioner's office, came to Marion. He met a citizen whom he used to know in another town and this citizen innocently took him into certain places where intoxicating drinks were kept for sale. The inspector was here three or four days and during that time bought a number of drinks at a number of places. As a result of his visit, County Auditor Jay Spaulding, upon instructions from the state department, certified the following names to the county treasurer for the collection of the Dow Aikin liquor tax:

Ivy B. Smith, James O'Keefe, Michael J. Burke, Melvin Jones, Herman Kalkbrenner, Charles Miller and Miles Anderson. The name of P. H. Neidig had previously been certified for the collection of the tax.

All of these men went into court and procured temporary injunctions restraining the collection of the $1,000 liquor tax. Friday, the temporary injunctions were dismissed and the men were assessed the minimum liquor tax and the penalties, or $240 each.

The temperary injunctions restraining the collection of the Dow Aiken tax in five old cases were made perpetual. These cases were those of Michael J. Burke, O'Keefe brothers, P. H. Neidig, Herman Kalkbrenner and Charles Miller.

F. S. Evans, George Reyle, A. C. Johnson and W. H. Cowley, of the state dairy and food department, who were present for Friday's hearing, were greatly pleased with the settlement made by Prosecutor Justice. They declared that they were particularly pleased because conviction in the majority of the cases would have been improbable in view of a decision by Attorney General Timothy S. Hogan. The latter held that one sale standing alone, without any other circumstances tending to show that a business was carried on, did not subject the seller to the payment of the Dow Aiken tax. It was because of this decision that the state department suggested to the prosecuting attorney that a settlement be affected.

Miller, Kalkbrener, Jones and Korte were represented by Attorney Louis E. Myers, Smith and Neidig by Attorney Hoke W. Donithen, O'Keefe brothers and Michael J. Burke by Mouser & Moloney, and Miles Anderson by Attorney Lloyd P. DeColley

Charging desertion and gross neglect of duty, Truman Patton, through Carhart & Warner, began an action for a divorce from Lava Patton in the court of common pleas, last Friday. The Pattons were married in 1908 and have two children. The plaintiff says that the defendant neglected her children, having left them alone at one time without fire, in the winter time. He asks custody of the children. Mrs. Addie Buntain, the mother-in-law, was restrained by Judge W. E. Scofield, as prayed in the petition, from taking the children outside the state.

HAS UNTIL DECEMBER TO DECIDE IN MATTER

The Invitation of Rev. George M. Rourke to Toledo Pastorate.

Rev. George M. Rourke, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, some time ago was asked to take the pastorate of a church in Toledo at a largely increased salary. Members of the Toledo congregation not only had the privilege of hearing him preach, but they received from Rev. Rourke's congregation the most flattering letters of recommendation

The local pastor has until next September to decide on accepting the Toledo pastorate, but as he likes Marion and Marion people exceedingly and believes he has a mission here, the probabilities are that he will remain.

In all fairness to Rev. Mr. Rourke, it should be stated that he was not aware of the publication of this item, nor has he any knowledge of its source.

FOR THE KIDNEYS

A Guaranteed Treatment. Money Back if it Fails.

Kidney diseases are more prevalent than is generally supposed, and are not always recognized as such. What was at first but a slight derangement of the kidneys often results in indigestion, rheumatism, anaemia, chronic and very painful headache, neuralgia, eye weakness, and other diseases of a most aggravating type. Therefore it is highly important and absolutely necessary that the kidneys and the urinary system be kept in an active and healthy condition.

After a thorough experience with the most successful forms of kidney treatments, we are confident that the one remedy which embraces the most desirable, safe and efficacious curative qualities, so necessary to the successful treatment and positive eradication of kidney diseases in general, is Rexall Kidney Pills.

We are so positive that Rexall Kidney Pills are unexcelled, and that they will do all we claim, that we sell them with our own personal guarantee that they shall not cost the user a cent if they should fail to give entire satisfaction.

We particularly recommend Rexall Kidney Pills for kidney ailments that resist ordinary treatment. We believe, if taken according to directions with regularity and persistency for a reasonable length of time, they will positively remove all symptoms and effect permanent relief.

Surely we could not more strongly demonstrate our faith in Rexall Kidney Pills, and our generous guarantee should convince the most sceptical that we would not dare make such a statement except we know what we are talking about. We urge you to try Rexall Kidney Pills at our risk. Price 50c. Sold in this community only at our store—The Rexall Store. L. M. Liggett & Co.

Friday morning Judge W. E. Scofield allowed the defendant temporary alimony of $35 in the divorce suit of John DeTurk against Darley D. DeTurk.

In the suit of the Big Four railway against S. E. DeWolfe, the plaintiff, through Carhart & Warner, Friday afternoon filed a demurrer to the defendant's answer. It sets up that the answer does not state facts to constitute a cause of action.

Judge W. E. Scofield, Friday afternoon, set down two jury cases and four non-jury cases for trial. The jury cases are:

June 24—Howard against the Fairbanks Steam Shovel company.

June 26—Peeling, administratrix, against the Big Four Railway company. The non-jury cases are:

June 10—Ankeny against Ankeny.

June 17—Southard against Southard, and Neidig against Neidig.

June 24—McClain against the State of Ohio.

James R. McLean, who obtained a judgment for $39.38 against W. W. Rice, a farmer, for work and labor as a farm hand, in the court of Justice Charles W. Haberman, through Attorney L. E. Myers, has filed a petition in the court of common pleas. The matter was appealed by the defendant. McLean asks judgment for $39.38, with interest from September 7, 1911.

In the matter of the State of Ohio, on relation of Clayton D. McClung, against County Auditor Jay Spaulding, the defendant, through Prosecuting Attorney Charles L. Justice, has filed an answer, setting up a general denial.

In the suit of Elmer C. Howard against the Fairbanks Steam Shovel company, the defendant has filed a motion to require plaintiff to furnish additional security for costs.

CHILDREN'S DAY IS OBSERVED SUNDAY

Exercises Are Held in Churches in the City.

PLEASING PROGRAM AT EPWORTH CHURCH

A Large Audience Gathers at the First Christian Church for Exercises Given by the Little People. Program at the Trinity Baptist Church—Other Notes.

Children's day was very appropriately observed at the Epworth M. E. church, Sunday morning and evening. In the morning, at the regular preaching hour, the children of the primary department carried out the progam, and in the evening, Dr. C. R. Havighurst preached a special sermon for young men

The church was decorated with garden flowers and palms and the children were seated in the choir loft, and on an improvised platform built over the pulpit. The attendance was very large, and the program was excellent.

Karl Dombaugh gave greetings and Josephine Fleming the golden text. Virginia Miller gave a recitation, after which Sheldon Emery spoke, "A Weeny, Teeny Boy," and Myrtle Eckler recited "A Weeny, Teeny Girl." An exercise, "June Roses" was given by three little misses, Katherine Gelbaugh, Ruth Hartman and Ruth Davis. This was followed by a piano solo by Ruth Pennell, and a recitation by Milan Severns. Dwight Freeman and Lawrence Postal gave an exercise, "Pansies," which was followed by a song, "He Loves Me, Too," by the kindergarten children. A recitation was then given by Edwin Probst and an exercise, "Hearts for Jesus' was given by Mary Hughs, Myrtle Elicker, Ruth Pennell and Dorothy Briggs. Edwin Irwin sang a solo, "Robin Red Breast." Next came a solo by Isabelle Davidson, and a recitation, "My Dolly," by Ruth Gelbaugh. The kindergarten department closed its exercises with a song, "Birds," and the kindergarten prayer.

The primary department then took charge and sang, "Children's Day." Donald Sloan spoke, "A Boy's Problem," and Josephine Lawence sang a solo, which was followed by a recitation by Pauline Ruhl. Gertrude Dowler recited "Baby Logic," and Frances McGuire sang a solo. After a recitation, "A Maiden's Sermon," by Helen Bever, Mrs. E. R. Finley's class, composed of Dorothy Jolly, Ruth Ella Cull Winifred Russell, Katherine Kunkle, Alice Cummins, Thelma McCurdy, Ruth Chapman, Normal Randolph, Mary Katherine Barnhart, Miriam Smart, Lucile Gray, Katherine Sloan, Dorothy Oborn, Marie Oborn, Mildred Smith, Helen Lawrence, Cleo Riemer and Zelda Terry, gave a beautiful flower drill. Ethel Fox gav a recitation, and the program was closed with a song by the school.

At the opening of the services in the morning, twenty infants received the ordinance of baptism.

At Christian Church.

Children's day exercises were held at the First Christian church on north Main street, Sunday evening. A big congregation assembled at the church and enjoyed the excellent program

All of the children of the Sunday-school participated in the opening song and this was followed by a declamation, "Let Your Light Shine Wherever You Are," by Carl Watterson. A primary class of little girls contributed an exercise, "Clover Blossoms," and Miss Mary Amelia Lilley contributed a song, 'Every Little Daisy." Miss Nellie Mapes had for the subject of her declamation, "Have You Any Mansions There." After a song, "Out of Darkness into Light," by the school, George Cawflesh gave a declamation, "Different Kinds of Giving A solo, "Darkness and Light," was given by Miss Gretchen Ingle and a declamation, "Send the Light,' was given by Miss Bernice Smith

A dialogue by the classes of Mrs W. H. Baker and Miss Mary Decker at this point proved interesting, and was followed by a song, "More and More," by the two classes. A solo was contributed by Mrs. A. L. Wood and the chorus "The Children's Hosanna," was sung by the school A closing song, "Oh How I Love Him," was given by the entire school. A missionary talk was given by Miss Amanda Decker. The program was closed with the singing of "Praise God From Whom All Blessings Flow."

The collection for the missionary cause was excellent. The collection on this occasion is always contributed to the missionary work

The church auditorium was nicely decorated for the occasion. The flowers were later sent to the Wilkins home at the corner of Park and Patton streets. A sister of Miss Thelma Hensel Wilkins, who died during the day, was to have participated in the program.

The Children's day exercises at the Trinity Baptist church were held, Sunday evening, at the regular preaching hour. A fine program was given at this time by the primary department of the Bible school.

The exercises were opened by the singing of a welcome song by the school. A recitation, "God Made Them All," was next given by Mabel Murphy An exercise, "Talking Too Much," was given by four boys, followed by a declamation, "Work For Little Hands," by Clifford Yazel. Mrs. Harley Peters' class then gave an exercise, "What can They Do." This was followed by a song, "God Lives, All Is Well," by the school. A recitation, "Just as Good," was given by Guenith King, and two declamations, "Would the World be Better?" and "Early and Late," by Hugh Luvisi and Donald King. Margaret Clapsaddle gave a selection, "Mother's Helper" An exercise, "What I Would Be," was next delivered by Miss Wood's class, followed by a song by the school, "Cheerful Songs Today Are Ringing." Naomi Rinehart gave the next recitation, "Tree Planters," and Helen Keeler delivered a selection, "The Flying Hours" Following a song by the school, Miss Durfee's class gave an exercise A declamation, "Perseverance," was delivered by Clark Beverly, and two other recitations were given, "The Rain Coach," by Isabel Uncapher, and "Mary's Lamb" by Blanch Muncaster

Milburn Bird then gave a selection, "God Wants Them," and a recitation, "Old Testament in Rhyme," was delivered by Malvina Summers. Mrs Uncapher's class gave an exercise, "The Work of Our Society."

After a talk by the pastor, an offering was taken for home missionary work An exercise, an emblematic selection, closed the program

The annual promotion day exercises were held at the First Presbyterian church, Sunday morning, and were largely attended. Short programs were observed by the departments of the cradle roll, the beginners and the primary Diplomas were granted as follows.

BROTHER KILLS SISTER AT PROSPECT SATURDAY

Deplorable Accident at Home of Henry Hall.

LITTLE VICTIM LIVES TWO HOURS AFTER SHOT

Is Struck by Bullet Squarely in the Forehead and Ball Passes Out at Base of Brain—Lad Is Almost Insane with Grief Over the Accident. Funeral Services Held Today.

Prospect, O., June 10 —[Special] —Nine-year-old Earl Roberts accidentally shot and killed his seven-year-old sister, Helen, with a twenty-two calibel Flobert rifle here, Saturday evening about 6 o'clock She lived only two hours.

The children, who lived with their grandmother, Mrs Alice Roberts, in the northeast edge of town, were at the home of Henry Hall, a neighbor, when the tragedy occurred Mr Hall had been shooting birds and the boy asked him if he could shoot once

The man handed the lad the rifle, with the hammer raised, the child says Not knowing the rifle was ready to shoot, the Roberts boy says he caught hold of the trigger and discharged the gun His little sister was standing only a few feet away at the time, the bullet striking her squarely in the forehead It came out at the base of the brain

Dr A L Gast was hastily summoned and pronounced the girl fatally wounded

Almost insane from grief, the girl's brother presents a very sorry picture For hours he refused to leave his sister's corpse out of his sight, weeping and moaning piteously all the while

Samuel Roberts, father of the children, works in Marion The mother who was formerly Miss Lizzie Allen, died in Marion about five years ago Since her death the children had made their home with their grandmother

The funeral services were held at the Lutheran church here, this morning at 10 o'clock, Rev I H Hunsinger officiating The services were largely attended

Misses Sophia Mack Ethel McKinley and Hazel Darst walked to Waldo Sunday and spent the day with Miss Darst's sister, Mrs Finley Augenstine and family The young women made the trip in four hours Mrs Finley also had for guests Misses Ruth Darst, Ethel Wilson, Parsy Rauhauser and Evalona McKinley, of Marion

No man who is broad minded thinks he's the whole show.

ANTHONY TENDERS RESIGNATION MONDAY

Finds It Impossible To Give Office Proper Attention.

CAPABLE OFFICER WILL RETIRE SOON

Mayor Regrets Decision of Mr. Anthony To Retire—Personal Affairs Demand Too Much Time and He Is Unable To Do Justice to the Position He Fills.

J. C. Anthony, director of public service, surprised a number of the officials Monday by tending to the mayor his resignation from the position of service director. Mr. Anthony hinted to the mayor more than a week ago that he felt that he could not give the office the attention it required and at the same time look after his own business as it requires

Since Mr Anthony has served the city he has proven a capable official and gave the office much of his attention He promoted several ideas that were acted on by the city council, and to lose his services at this time will be regretted. Mayor Walters has not appointed a successor to Mr. Anthony, and he will not make a hasty appointment. The text of Mr. Anthony's resignation follows

'Hon C D Walters, Mayor.

'Dear Sir I hereby tender my resignation as public service director of the city of Marion to take effect, June 17, 1912 or as soon as you can conveniently relieve me without interference to the business depending on this office I am very sorry to have to make this request, but I find it impossible to devote the time necessary to meet the requirements of the office and manage my own business

Very respectfully.

"J. C Anthony.

Director for Public Service."

AN AUTO ACCIDENT NEAR LARUE SUNDAY

Machine Turns Over with a Party of Tourists.

Mr and Mrs S. H Workman and daughter, Wealthy, and niece, Miss Anna Hively, of Fredericktown, had a fortunate escape from serious injuries or death, when their automobile turned completely over at a turn four miles north of La Rue, Sunday noon. The party was enroute home from North Manchester, Indiana, where Miss Wealthy Workman has been attending college

Mr. Workman and his daughter were riding in the front seat and Mrs. Workman and her niece were in the tonneau at the time of the accident. In making the turn at the Montgomery church, the auto skidded and the occupants were buried beneath the machine. The two occupants of the rear seat were able to extricate themselves, but Mr. Workman and his daughter were pinned under the machine. Mrs. Workman and her niece ran for assistance. The auto was lifted and the occupants taken from under the machine.

The members of the party were taken back to La Rue, where they were given attention at a hotel by Dr. S M Hesser Mr Workman was suffering of a broken rib, while his daughter sustained a dislocation of the left shoulder. All of the members of the party were more or less bruised and scratched and the automobile was badly damaged.

JOINED IN MARRIAGE AT HOME OF BRIDE

Miss Norah B. Marsh and Mr. Byron W. Brady.

Miss Norah B. Marsh was united in marriage to Mr Byron Wallin Brady, of Mansfield, at the home of her parents, Mr and Mrs Milton Marsh, of south Vine street, Monday morning at 10 10 o'clock. Dr. C. R. Havighurst wedded them with the ring ceremony in the presence of only the immediate family of the bride and a few friends. At 12 o'clock a wedding luncheon was served, the decorations of the table and home being carried out in pink roses and peonies.

The young people left at 12:52 o'clock for Mansfield, where they will make their future home. Mr. Brady is manager of the Wear-Well shoe store of that place, and is a brother of Mrs. Charles DeLong and Mrs. Joseph Gilbert of this city.

THE PROBST BROTHERS SUFFER HEAVY LOSS

Firemen Have Hard Battle with Fire Monday.

OLD-STYLE COUPLINGS CAUSE MUCH DELAY

New Fire Engine Can Not Be Used Until Engine Is Moved to a Distant Hydrant — Storage House Burns Down While the Adjustments Are Made.

One of the largest and most rapidly spreading fires the firemen have had to battle in a long time occurred at 10 o'clock Monday, starting in the newly-constructed storage house of Probst brothers, at the rear of the residence of John Probst, of north State street. The fire had gained headway before being discovered. On the arrival of the Central department the building was found a mass of flames, while the fire was spreading to adjoining sheds and residences.

The pressure from the hydrants was so slight that the firemen could do but little in subduing the flames, owing to the intense heat. So great was the heat that the paint was scorched on houses 100 feet away. Owing to the hydrants in the vicinity being of the old style, and not having a coupling for an engine, the old coupling was attached to one of the hydrants, but the stripping of the threads on this coupling prevented the use of the engine It was then taken to a distant hydrant, which was equipped with an engine coupling and a pressure of over 160 pounds was secured. By that time the storage house was burned to the ground.

Pigeons Are Burned.

Adjoining the house was the chicken pen and pigeon house of Mr. Probst who had about 150 choice pigeons To see the pigeons flying around to escape the heat and find an exit was distressing. After some time, several persons braved the heat sufficiently to tear the wire netting, and a small number of the birds were rescued.

The residences of Joseph Hemmeger and Anna Dowling, located just north of the storage house and facing on Mark street, caught fire and were badly damages, while the household goods were damaged to some extent by smoke and water. Two small dwellings located at the rear of the storage house and owned by Samuel Jones, caught fire and one of the structures was damaged almost beyond repair. A small barn and shed of A. C. Thompson, just south of the storage house, was burned to the ground, but the barn contained nothing of value. Another large barn to the south and a couple of sheds took fire, but the blaze was checked before much damage was done to these.

Fire Fighters Hurt.

In fighting the fire, two of the firemen were injured. Harry Spring had several fingers cut to the bone on a piece of tin, while George Cooper, one of the minute men, was struck on the chin by a piece of tin and sustained a bad cut, requiring surgical attention.

The loss by the fire can not be estimated until after Mr Probst makes an invoice of what stock was in the building. Besides an automobile, road wagon, pigeons, chickens and other personal property the storage house contained over a carload of plumbing supplies. Mr Probst was unable to tell how much of his loss is covered by insurance until he looks up some papers and learns what insurance he had secured.

MUCH DAMAGE IS DONE BY FIRE SUNDAY

Blaze in Rear of Quarters of George Chennell.

A fire of unknown origin did considerable damage at the rear of the bill posting quarters of George Chennell, on south Main street, shortly after 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon. The fire had its origin in a shed at the rear of the little brick dwelling, and spread to several piles of lumber, ties and sheds. The fire gained considerable headway before being discovered and considerable time was taken in extinguishing the blaze.

The telephone company was a heavy loser by the fire, three of the large cables being badly damaged and a large number of phones being put out of commission for a time Nearly all of the side windows of the Cadillac garage were broken by the intense heat, and the roof of the building was damaged.

HARDING ASKED TO PRESENT NAME

Of President Taft to the Republican Convention.

W G Harding has been asked by President Taft to put the president's name in nomination at the Chicago convention The formal request came to Mr Harding in a letter from the president Thursday evening

Mr Harding replied Friday that he was glad to accept a commission so pleasing to his personal and political preference, but assured the president that he would more gladly listen to another, if the exigencies of politics suggested a change

At a meeting of the Ohio State Homeopathic Medical society at Dayton, last week, it was decided to hold the next meeting in this city in 1913.

MRS. NEIL J. GAST IS SEEKING A DIVORCE

Begins Suit in Common Pleas Court Monday.

CHARLES FORD TAKEN INTO CUSTODY SATURDAY

Must Answer to a Charge of Non-Support—An Indictment Against James G. McGown Is Nolle Prossed Monday—Some Common Pleas Court Notes.

Because her husband compelled her to live with his parents, and sought to create and provoke dissension between defendant and herself, Meta K. Gast, through Copeland & Bartram, Monday, in the court of common pleas, brought an action for a divorce from Neil J. Gast.

The Gasts were married September 3, 1903, and they have one child, a boy, aged five years. The plaintiff alleged that ever singe their marriage her husband has refused to permit her to either receive her friends, to visit them, or to "accept of their invitations to social functions." The husband is alleged to have been cruel, and the plaintiff says she was finally taken to the home of her own father in Kentucky and remained there until July 12, 1911

The plaintiff avers that her husband has retained possession of their child ever since her illness in 1910, and denies her the right or privilege of visiting the little boy, except under the "most exacting conditions and espionage." She asks a divorce, custody of the child and for alimony, pendente lite.

In the suit of Luella Sheets against Charles H. Conley, executor of the last will and testament of Vashti Kishler, deceased, the defendant, through Conley & Johnson, has filed an answer, setting up a general denial.

Charles Ford, one of the three men indicted sub rosa for non-support by the May grand jury, was arrested at a picnic near Richwood by Sheriff John G. Stark, Saturday afternoon He was brought to this city, Saturday evening, and furnished bond for his appearance for trial. Ford has been working in Marysville.

Monday, Judge William E. Scofield appointed May R. Flickinger and Susan P. Hodder trustees of all the property described in their supplemental petition, the property consisting of a ninety-nine-acre farm, a business block at State and Center streets, a business block on south Main street, about twenty-seven acres along Bellefontaine avenue and a part of lot No. 37 in Marion.

The trustees are authorized to sell their two-thirds share in the property and reinvest it in other Marion county lands

The court granted the prayer of the newly-appointed trustees as made in their supplement and amendment to the petition, in which they appeared as plaintiffs as well as the defendants, together with Marion L. Hodder and Frances Culbertson, minors, and others.

Hoke W. Donithen, guardian of the minor defendants, who are children of May R. Flickinger and Susan P. Hodder, has been given leave to answer instanter.

Monday, Judge Scofield directed that the sum of $4,500 be transferred from the ditch to the bridge fund as prayed for by the board of county commissioners. This action was predicted by the Star some time ago, the transfer being necessary as a result of the failure of the commissioners to anticipate their expense on the Little Scioto river improvement.

Announcing that Mrs. Anna McGown, divorced wife of James G. McGown, had requested him to ask the court to nolle prosse the indictment of non-support against her former husband so that she could procure $400 to lift a mortgage on her home, Prosecuting Attorney Charles L. Justice appeared before Judge W. E. Scofield Monday morning. McGown, so he said he had been informed by McGown's attorney, James H. Eymon, agreed to pay her the sum of $400 if she would relieve him of all liability for paying for the support of their three children. Mrs. McGown had represented that a mortgage of some $200 was about to be foreclosed, and was anxious to have the indictment nolle prossed so she could procure the money, the prosecutor said. It was said that the action on the part of the court would not in anyway, of course, relieve McGown from further prosecution should the children at any time in the future need financial assistance. Judge Scofield nolle prossed the indictment.

McGown, a former street car motorman, is now located somewhere in Iowa. His wife obtained a divorce several years ago and the indictment for non-support against him was returned when John H. Clark was prosecuting attorney.

In the damage suit of Cecil Haner against the Marion Steam Shovel company, the defendant has been given leave to plead by June 22.

Emma Showers, who was married to Philip Showers thirty-nine years ago, through Attorney Charles L. Justice, Monday brought an action for a divorce. She says that for more than three years last past, he has failed and wilfully neglected to provide her with the common necessities of life and she has been compelled to live upon the charity of her children and her own exertions, "because of the defendant's profligacy and dissipation."

The plaintiff says the defendant has threatened to kill her, driving her away from their home a short time before midnight. Judge Scofield granted an injunction restraining the defendant from interfering or molesting her or her property, or the home of her daughter, Grace Galleher, where she is now living. The plaintiff seeks a divorce and reasonable alimony.

Tuesday, Judge W. E. Scofield temporarily enjoined Samuel Roberts and Harry Sanger from interfering with Benjamin C. Houseworth and James L. Snyder in the possession and control of certain premises located at No. 216 north Main street. In a petition filed in the court of common pleas by Eymon & Thompson, Tuesday afternoon, it is set up that Messrs. Houseworth and Snyder rented the room in question, April 4, 1912, and entered into a written lease for the term of three years. It is understood the plaintiffs contemplate starting a saloon in the place, which was formerly occupied by Mendenhall's restaurant.

VICIOUS COW TRAMPLES MAN AT MARYSVILLE

John Schalip Is Severely Injured by Animal.

John Schalip, residing two miles south of Marysville, on the Weaver road, was knocked down and trampled by an angry cow on Chestnut street, Saturday afternoon. He was rendered unconscious and suffered a number of severe cuts and bruises.

Mr. Schalip was driving the animal, known to be exceedingly cross, to this city. When near the Williams & McIntire company plant, the cow turned on him, knocked him down and trampled him. In falling Mr. Schalip struck the back of his head against the curb, rendering him unconscious, from which he did not fully recover until several hours later.

Dr. L. Henderson dressed Mr. Chalip's wounds and later took him to his home in an automobile.—Marysville Tribune.

ARRANGEMENTS ARE MADE FOR CELEBRATION

Marion Will Enjoy a Big Time First Week in July.

LOCAL MERCHANTS ARE MUCH INTERESTED

The Amusements for Home-Coming Week Will Be Elevating and Clean in Every Way and Worthy of the Patronage of the Public. Not Ordinary Street Carnival.

Arrangements are being made for the celebration of "home-coming" week in Marion, July 1 to 6, inclusive. Several details of the plans for the big week have been definitely made and the outlook at this time is for one of the greatest celebrations of its kind ever held in this city.

The local merchants and professional men, who are planning the affair, state emphatically that the impression should not be entertained that the amusemens afforded and the various diversions to be enjoyed are of the type very often seen at street carnivals, and which are condemned by the general public. The amusements will be wholly elevating and thoroughly moral, they say. The Smith United shows will entertain the public during the week and the general standing of the amusements will in all likelihood be worthy the appreciation of the patrons.

An effort is to be made to emphasize the "home-coming" idea during the week. People in all of the surrounding towns, who have ever resided in Marion will be given a most cordial invitation to come to Marion and spend the entire week here. They will be urged to bring their friends with them in order to make the week in this city one of the most successful of "home-coming" events.

According to the present plans, a big band concert will be given at Garfield park, Sunday evening, June 30. A program of speeches for the day may be arranged.

Further plans will be made at once for the big week, and other diversions will be arranged.

CONTRACTS ARE LET SATURDAY AFTERNOON

Two New Pikes To Be Constructed This Summer.

Saturday at 2 o'clock, in the office of County Surveyor George E. Dwyer, the contracts for building the Beach and Hipsher pikes were awarded to J. W. Garberick, of Galion, and M. O. Watkins, of this city.

The building of the Beach pike, located in Tully township, was secured by Garberick at his bid of $9,946.80. The estimated cost of it was $10,622.48. The Hipsher pike, located in Claridon township, was secured by Watkins at his bid of $9,970. The estimated cost of the improvement was $11,241.75.

WOUND DISCOVERED ON WOMAN'S HEAD

Mrs. Annie Moore Is in a Serious Condition.

ATTENDING PHYSICIANS MYSTIFIED BY CASE

The Presence of a Wound on the Woman's Head Is Discovered by Accident—Mrs. Moore Is the Widow of the Late George Moore, Who Dies Last November.

Friday doctors discovered a round bruise, about three inches in diameter, on top of the head of Mrs. Annie Moore, of Wilson avenue, victim of a mysterious assailant, who chloroformed her, then bound securely her hands and feet, last Sunday night.

Thursday the attending physicians thought that Mrs. Moore's condition was due entirely to shock and a highly nervous temperament. Now they believe that the newly-discovered wound may be largely responsible for her condition, which is now admitted to be extremely serious. Friday, Mrs. Moore had another relapse and it was feared for a time that she was going to die.

The wound on the head, according to the attending physicians, must have been inflicted by a sandbag or similar weapon. Mrs. Moore is not suffering from brain concussion, the doctors say, because her eyes do not indicate it, nor are her limbs paralyzed in any way.

Slightest pressure on the wound causes the woman to scream and writhe as though in excruciating pain. The attending physicians say they are mystified by the astounding case.

The presence of the bruise was first discovered by a trained nurse when combing Mrs. Moore's hair. When the comb touched the wound Mrs. Moore, who is semi-conscious much of the time, complained of pain. Physicians were notified and an examination was immediately made.

Mrs. Moore is the widow of George Moore, who died last November as a result of being poisoned by eating bologna.

The police have been unable to locate Charles May, a former boarder at the Moore home, who is charged with committing an assault on Mrs. Moore.

MUST PAY TAXES ON THE BIG DREDGE HERE

Dredge Has a Valuation of $5,000 on Tax Duplicate.

The big dredge of the Timothy Foohey Dredging company, of Fort Wayne, Indiana, has been placed on the Marion county personal tax duplicate by County Auditor Jay Spaulding at a valuation of $5,000.

Tuesday, J. M. Foohey, a son of Timothy Foohey, complained about being compelled to pay taxes on the dredge in this county. He said the company paid taxes on it in Indiana.

Auditor Spaulding said that the property was in Marion county and had to be taxed. "It will be necessary for you to get a refunding order in Indiana."

The personal property assessor did not return the dredge for taxation, and Auditor Spaulding notified the local representative of the dredging company to put in his appearance at his office. The representative protested, but the auditor insisted.

Wednesday, the personal property duplicate for the city of Marion was completed by the auditor. It will show a big increase over that of a year ago.

Auditor Spaulding is preparing a comparative statement, which he will make public in connection with this year's assessment.

The task of tabulating all of the assessors' reports is a big one, and the probabilities are the total county duplicate will not be made public for a fortnight.

WILLIAM SPRAW DIES IN GALION HOSPITAL

Death Follows an Injury in Foundry Monday.

William Sprow died at the Galion General hospital at 9 o'clock Monday morning, from a shock to the system following an injury received while at work at the Galion Iron Works foundry, at 7 o'clock the same morning.

According to the report of the accident Mr. Spraw stumbled over a collapsible road drag, and in throwing out his right hand to catch himself, the machine collapsed and fell against another machine, the hand being caught between the two. The hand was crushed and the little finger severed. Herbold's ambulance was summoned and the injured man was removed to the Galion General hospital. Drs. Brickley and Helfrich were about to render surgical assistance when on starting the anaesthetic, Mr. Spraw suddenly succumbed to death which was due to the shock from the accident and from a previous serious heart lesion. —Galion Inquirer.

GETS READY TO OCCUPY LEMNOS

Italian Fleet To Take Possession of Turkish Island.

Rome, July 11.—The Italian war fleet in the Aegean sea is getting ready to occupy Lemnos, one of the biggest and most important islands in the archipelago, according to dispatches from the Italian commander received today. The Turkish garrison capitulated upon the arrival of the Italian fleet, the messages added.

Lemnos lies about half way between Mt. Athos and the coast of Asia Minor and its area is about 175 square miles. The population of the island is about 40,000.

Damaged by Water.

Some damage was caused by water at the Y. M. C. A. building, Saturday evening, about 9:45. Some person turned on the faucet in the ladies' toilet room on the second floor. The sink was clogged, and the water overflowed on the floor, finally going through and down the wall of the pool-room to the floor, damaging the wainscoting and the wall.

EDWARD CARLIN IS VICTIM OF ACCIDENT

Bicycle Is Struck by Auto on Main Street.

Edward Carlin, of Mansfield, a painter, was thrown from his bicycle and received a few minor bruises, Tuesday, about 10:30 o'clock, when his wheel was struck by the automobile of Dr. A. M. Crane. Dr. Crane and Mr. Carlin were both traveling south near the courthouse on north Main street when the accident occurred Carlin was looking for a dray, and was moving very slowly. Dr. Crane came up with his machine, also at a slow speed, and an automobile going north crowded in. The accident was unavoidable, as the sides of the street were lined with drays and delivery wagons. The lamp on the Crane machine was broken and the bicycle ridden by Carlin was demolished.

A large crowd of spectators soon gathered, but it was found that the victim was not seriously hurt. Dr. Crane took Mr. Carlin to his office and gave him the necessary attention. Aside from a number of bruises he was otherwise uninjured.

MISS ETTA SCOTT DIES IN BUCYRUS HOSPITAL

Is Victim of a Railway Accident Saturday.

Miss Etta Scott, who was struck by a T., W., V. & O. passenger train at the Middletown street crossing in Bucyrus, Saturday afternoon, died at the Crawford county hospital in Bucyrus, Sunday morning at 8 o'clock. She had relatives in this city and at Caledonia.

Miss Scott's cousin, Miss Katherine Scott, a Bucyrus school teacher, was struck and killed by a train on the same railroad at Bucyrus, last winter, and another cousin, a brakeman for the road, was killed ten years ago. Her parents, brother and sisters all preceded her in death. She was about forty years old.

The funeral services were held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Timpson, of Bucyrus, Tuesday, at 9 o'clock. Interment was made in the Mt. Zion cemetery.

MRS. SAMUEL BOLANDER DIES OF PARALYSIS

Death Comes After a Protracted Illness.

SHE REACHES THE AGE OF SEVENTY-FIVE YEARS

Is the Mother of Seven Children. Four Children and Husband Are Living—Mrs. Bolander Passes Her Entire Life in Marion County. Arrangements for Funeral.

Mrs. Belinda A. Bolander, wife of Samuel Bolander, of No. 113 west Columbia street, died of paralysis at her home, Tuesday at 1 a. m. The aged woman had been ill of a complication of diseases for the past three weeks and suffered a stroke of paralysis. Saturday, from which she never rallied. She did not regain consciousness.

Mrs. Bolander was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William McNeal, and was born in this county, August 15, 1836, being over seventy-five years of age at the time of her death. She was married to Samuel Bolander, October 3, 1852. To this union were born seven children, four of whom with the husband and eight grandchildren survive. They are Mrs. Edward E. Myers and Charles Bolander, of Kinsman; and James B. and Thomas E Bolander, of this city. She is also survived by a sister, Mrs. Lysander Ames, of Elmore, and a host of friends.

The deceased had always resided in this county, and having with her husband, moved to Marion five years ago. She was a faithful member of the United Brethren church, and a woman of a noble Christian character.

The funeral was held from the United Brethren church, Thursday morning at 9:30 o'clock, Rev. J. W. Miles, the pastor, officiating. Interment was made in the Marion cemetery.

ADVERTISING THE GREAT CELEBRATION

An Automobile Party Pays the City a Visit.

A big automobile advertising the Ohio-Columbus centennial, to be held in Columbus, the week of August 26, as a great historical pageant, "The Story of Ohio," attracted considerable attention as it passed up and down Marion streets Tuesday.

Every county in the state will participate in the centennial celebration, Marion county's honorary commissioners being George B. Christian, Jr., and George D. Copeland. Mayor Claude D. Walters will request the council to take some action that will give Marion a part in the big event.

From Marion the automobile advertising party went to Bucyrus, Crestline and Mansfield.

Dr. James Wilson McMurray, who has been seriously ill at Mt. Carmel hospital in Columbus, will return home next Tuesday, according to present plans. He is improving very nicely.

It takes an honest old farmer to write a letter to a prospective summer boarder, and make it read like a circus poster.

A woman believes what she wants to, a man what he has to.

TWO CANDIDATES GET ODD FELLOW DEGREE

Kosciusko Lodge Holds an Important Meeting.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR MEMORIAL SERVICE

Rev. D. N. Kelly To Deliver Address. The Red Men Give a Dance Which Is Well Attended—The Moose Gather and Dispose of Business. Some Lodge Notes.

The third degree was conferred on two candidates at a regular meeting of Kosciusko Lodge, No. 58, I. O. O. F., Monday night, and a number of applications were received,

Final arrangements for the joint Memorial day services of Kosciusko and Wayside Lodge, No. 864, and the Rebekah lodges, were made. The members of the lodges will meet at Wayside hall on west Center street Sunday morning at 10 o'clock, and march to the Wesley M. E. church, where Rev. D. N. Kelley will deliver the annual address. In the afternoon the members will again assemble at Wayside hall, and proceed to the Marion cemetery, where the graves of their dead will be decorated.

The following committee will mark the graves, Saturday night: John S. Kilbury, A. W. Thomas, Fred C. Bacon, L. E. Seigfried and O. L. Cozad.

Mrs. Frank Taverner and Mrs. Carroll W. Davidson, representing the Pythian temples of Canby Lodge, No. 51, and Marion Lodge, No. 402, Knights of Pythias, respectively, are attending the state convention of the Pythian Sisters in Canton as delegates from the local temples.

J. W. Llewellyn and S. H. DeLong are the respective representatives of Canby lodge and Marion lodge at the state meeting of the Knights of Pythias, being held in Columbus.

Sixty-five couples attended the dance of the Red Men, Monday evening. Music was furnished by McNeal's orchestra, and the evening was passed in a most pleasant manner. Another in the series of dances will be given next Monday evening.

A well-attended meeting was held by the Moose, Monday evening. A class of eighteen was initiated. J. D. Guthery was named to succeed Horace S. Williams as treasurer, and C. E. Curtis was elected to a position as trustee, succeeding J. L. Williams, who has left the city. Two organizers were present and each gave an excellent talk. They will be in the city working in the interests of the lodge the charter of which will be open for another month. They are W. S. Odenkirk, of Pittsburgh, and Charles P. Hughes, of Columbus.

The next meeting will be held next Monday evening.

Canby Temple, No. 152, Pythian Sisters, held a well-attended meeting, Monday evening, at which time arrangements were made for the lodge memorial to be held, June 23. Considerable business of a routine nature was transacted. A called meeting of the members of the committee and officers who will take part in the memorial will be held next Monday evening.

AGGRESSIVE WORK BY SUNDAY-SCHOOLS

Much Work Planned for County During Year.

The officers of the Marion County Sunday-school association are planning to do some very aggressive Sunday-school work throughout the county during the coming year.

This week a number of Marion people attended the state convention in Columbus. The delegates from Marion county were Wayne Neally, Douglas Weeks and Huron Hamilton, of the First Presbyterian Sunday-school, Francis O'Dowd of the Forest Lawn Presbyterian mission; Mrs. R. C. Edgington, Mrs. Ora Goorley, of the M. E. Sunday-school of Caledonia, and Mrs. Etta H. Smith, Mrs. B. A. Urton, and Rev. E. L. Weatherwax, of Calvary Sunday-school.

NEARLY $1,000,000 FOUND NEAR BODY

Aged Tennessee Woman Found Dead by the Police.

Memphis, Tenn., June 10.—Mrs. Caroline Cloth, an aged woman who had lived in poverty for years, was found dead this morning by the police and near her body, concealed in a box, was found money and government bonds worth almost $1,000,000.

The woman had no relatives in Memphis. She was born in Germany. She came to New York when a girl and married Adam Cloth, who ran a saloon and bakery in Memphis many years. Since his death, she went into seclusion and was seldom seen on the streets.

Waives Examination.

William Manley, colored, arrested in this city by the local police Saturday, and returned to Columbus by Detective Creedon, of that city, waived examinations on a charge of horse-stealing and was held to the grand jury in the sum of $500. Manley is said to have taken a horse and buggy belonging to W. H. Feaster, of Columbus.

It isn't always the fast young man who gets there.

RICHWOOD YOUNG PEOPLE MARRIED

Miss Flora L. Adair and Mr. John Ogan Wed.

MARRIAGE SERVICE AT COVINGTON, KENTUCKY

Mr. and Mrs. Ogan Will Make Future Home at Richwood—Miss Clara Monroe Marries Mr. C. Jennings Stanley in California—Some Richwood Notes.

Richwood, O., June 13.—[Special.]—Miss Flora L. Adair and Mr. John Ogan were united in marriage Saturday, at Covington, Kentucky. During the past several years the bride has been employed as supervisor of penmanship and drawing in the public schools at Martins Ferry, spending the summer vacations in Richwood. Her former home was at Magnetic Springs. The groom has always resided in Richwood and is well and favorably known here. Mr. and Mrs. Ogan will be at home to their friends after June 28, in the groom's residence, in east Blagrove street.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry Hollie, of Columbus, motored to Richwood, Sunday, and spent the day with Miss Alma Donohoe.

Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Winter and Mr. and Mrs. Paul B. Hutchinson were in Delaware, Wednesday, attending the annual commencement exercises of the Ohio Wesleyan university. F. Elmer Winter is a member of this year's graduating class.

Miss Clara L. Monroe was married, Saturday, June 8, to Mr. C. Jennings Stanley, at Lompoc, California. Miss Monroe left Richwood two years ago last May for Jamestown, North Dakota, to visit her sister, Mrs. C. L. Bourquin. She took up the work of nursing in the Jamestown sanitorium, later leaving for Lompoc to visit her aunt, Mrs. Anna Dille. She again took up nursing in Lompoc and while employed at Santa Cruz, met Mr. Stanley, their acquaintance culminating in marriage. The ceremony was performed at Mrs. Dille's home in Lompoc. After spending ten days in Los Angeles, Mrs. Stanley will leave for Chicago, will join her sister, Mrs. Bourquin, and the two are expected to arrive in Marion, June 22, for a few days' visit with their aunt, Mrs E. C. Oglesbee. They will come to Richwood to spend several weeks with their sister, Mrs. Chancey Kinney. Mr. Stanley is manager of a ranch near Lompoc and on account of business interests cannot accompany his wife to Ohio.

Laurence Cheney, of Toledo, spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Cheney.

SIDELIGHTS ON THE CONVENTION

get tickets for them. Now, Colonel New has never admitted any Roosevelt leanings and thought he was being spooted.

"Sure you can have the tickets," New answered with a grin. "I might be able to get you 100 if you can use them."

Burling rushed to the telegraph booth and wired the "boys" to come, that it was all fixed. Then somebody told him that Colonel New was a trifler.

From Porter to Senator.

Chicago, June 13.—From porter to state senator and influential politician is the record of Senator Patrick Sullivan, of Casper, Wyoming, who arrived at the Auditorium hotel with Mrs Sullivan to attend the convention as a delegate.

Twenty eight years ago, Sullivan was a poor boy in New York. He took Horace Greely's advice and went West, and after a struggle procured a small bunch of sheep, which was the beginning of his mammoth sheep and cattle ranch. He has been in the Wyoming state legislature for more than sixteen years.

"I am for President Taft," he said, "and so is our delegation. We have woman suffrage in Wyoming. Mrs. Sullivan votes. I believe women will eventually be given the right of franchise all through the country."

Attends All Conventions.

Chicago, June 13.—James E. Watson, one of the "big four" of Taft delegates-at-large form Indiana, who was seated in the convention, is an optimist, but he tempers well his optimism.

Mr. Watson has beaten Senator Crawford Kennedy's record as a convention fan.

"My father took me to my first convention when I was eleven years old," Watson said, "and I heard the wonderful oration of Ingersoll in nominating Blaine. I became fired with a desire never to miss a Republican national convention and thus far I have always managed to get a ticket."

Paintings of Roosevelt.

Chicago, June 13.—Half a dozen blue-coated messengers of telegraph companies and not a few other spectators were led to reveal their Republican leaning, near the Congress hotel, when a furniture moving van backed up to the curb and began unloading several giant paintings of Colonel Roosevelt. They were monster works in oil, portraying the colonel in hunting costume.

The youngsters started to shout, and there was a stray handclap or two when the coverings were slipped off the paintings.

The canvases were by Van Ness and were to be placed in the Roosevelt headquarters at the Congress hotel.

Leaves Kids at Home.

Chicago, June 13.—Joseph R. Ball, delegate-at-large from Baltimore, is a staunch Roosevelter. He believes in the colonel even to the extent of being paterfamilias in a home where there are ten children. Delegate Ball, however, has left his youngsters at home.

CONVICTS ARE NOISY BUNCH

Plead for Work and Then Make the Guards' Lives a Burden.

Columbus, O., June 13 — Life for the pen guards isn't what it used to be by a long ways. Just now at the prison there are 1,000 idle cons locked up in their cells, and when they are not pleading for something to do they amuse themselves as best they can in the narrow damp stone cells. Some sing hymns, others sing ragtimes. Some of the tunes date back to the time of "There'll Be a Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight."

Other cons recite poetry, some just yell and a number devote their time to strumming soft serenades upon guitars, banjos and other instruments. All this goes on at one and the same time and the guards sit at the end of blocks with cotton in their ears.

The prisoners have been doing this for over a week and the problem of what to do with the unemployed convicts is still unsolved. The guards say they suffer as much as the prisoners, right now.

No doubt there are wives who drive their husbands to drink, and there are other husbands who would like to have such wives.

MISSISSIPPI IS FOR PRESIDENT

vention in a bedroom of the Planters' hotel and named their delegation to Chicago.

Amongst other things, Thomas K. Niedringhaus, a Roosevelt man, was elected national committeeman by the state convention. Charles Nagel, secretary of commerce and labor, and a staunch supporter of Taft, is the present committeeman. By upholding the Roosevelt faction the committee would be forced to decide against Nagel.

The Delegates.

Nagel, who was in Chicago yesterday, left for St Louis last night and Otto F. Steifel, head of the Taftites, held his proxy.

The Roosevelt delegates-at-large from Missouri were Herbert S. Hadley, Jesse A. Tolerton, Walter S. Dickey, John D. McNeely, Hugh McIndoe, Frederick Essen, A. A. Speer, John W Tippin.

The four Taft contestants were Joseph E. Black, John A. Duncan, John J. Lahiv, Harry D Train.

The contest as presented by the Hadley faction shows that the Missouri state convention was held April 21 and there was no question as to its legality. The contest against the Roosevelt delegates-at-large is based on an alleged violation by the Roosevelt men of a preliminary agreement that four of the eight delegates-at-large should be Roosevelt men and four Taft men and that they should not be instructed.

The state committee appointed a sub-committee of six, three Taft men and three Roosevelt men, with whom Governor Hadley and Secretary Nagel were invited to sit, to pass upon the question of contests. The sub-committee decided that the Taft contests were without merit. The sub-committee so reported to the state committee and their report did not make any recommendation as to division of delegates or as to instructions.

Roosevelt Men Seated.

The state committee, composed of seventeen Taft men and sixteen Roosevelt men, seated the Roosevelt delegates by a vote of thirty to two. The action of the state committee was then referred to the committee on credentials whose report was unanimous, seating every Roosevelt delegate except one or two small counties in which Taft delegates were seated or given half a vote. Nominations were then in order for delegates, Governor Hadley receiving 1,046; Jesse R. Tollerton, 1,014, the six other delegates ranging from 850 to 950 votes. In this list of delegates were included two Taft men, Charles Morris, chairman of the Republican state committee, and Mayor Kreisman, of St. Louis. When the convention by a vote of 663 to 385½ voted to instruct the delegates for Roosevelt, both Kreisman and Morris resigned. When the resolution to instruct the delegates-at-large for Roosevelt was proposed the claim was made that such instructions would violate an agreement of the Republican members of the sub-committee under Governor Hadley that the delegates should not be instructed. The question whether such an agreement existed was debated and Governor Hadley denied it.

Grant Gillespie presented the first part of the Taft argument on the case of Missouri at large. He referred to the excitement in St. Louis which preceded the convention.

The Taft Argument.

"In addition to electing the delegates and alternates as provided by the national call, the state call provided for the election of a national committeeman by the convention attempting to deprive the delegates elected from the various congressional districts of their rights to participate in the selecting of the national committeeman, and thereby trespassing upon the call and the rights of the national committee and convention," he said.

Gillespie then told about various contests the Taft men had filed following the county conventions.

"In the meantime," Gillespie continued, "many conferences had been held between the leaders of opposing factions. Open threats of a separate convention were being made by the Roosevelt followers. The papers were full of exciting stories.

"The convention was to be held in the armory. While the contests were being considered, 100 policemen and detectives, under the direct supervision of President Woerhide, of the police board, an appointee of Governor Hadley, took charge of the armory. A large body of state militia was also placed there.

"This number of policemen was increased to 150 by the time the convention convened. The militia and police remained in charge until the convention was declared adjourned by Governor Hadley.

Odium on People.

"This is the first time in the history of Missouri that a Republican convention was ever held under the supervision of armed police and state militia, with the knowledge and consent of its governor, who was present, and thereby cast odium upon the intelligence and good citizenship of Missouri Republicans and treating them as if they were a band of ruffians incapable of holding a peaceable meeting.

"A committee met with Governor Hadley and Charles Nagel and it was agreed to seat Roosevelt delegates from Jackson, Buchanan, Caldwell, and Putnam counties and the other contesting delegates should be seated with one half a vote each and that eight delegates-at-large should be sent to Chicago, four favorable to Taft and four favorable to Roosevelt. This agreement was adopted by the state committee and at the convention many of the delegates went home and things seemed harmonious."

"The election of the eight delegates and eight alternates to the national convention was taken up and in compliance with the agreement, Governor Hadley and Mr. Tollerton and Mayor Kreisman and Charles D. Morris were four of the eight delegates selected; however, Mayor Kreisman and Mr. Morris were the only two Taft supporters elected.

The Truth of It.

"After the election of the delegates and the alternates the resolutions committee returned and their report was read. An amendment was offered by a Roosevelt delegate instructing the delegates to support the candidacy of Roosevelt. By this time, which was about 5 o'clock in the morning, the convention having been in session all night, a large majority of the delegates had left the hall. Not over twenty remained. Upon offering this resolution, which brought forth a storm of protests and charges of breach of faith, even by such Roosevelt men as Walter S. Dickey, the resolution was declared adopted. Mayor Kriesman and Morris resigned as delegates and two Roosevelt delegates were declared elected by Chairman Hadley, who, without a motion, peremptorily declared the convention adjourned."

The so-called bedroom convention was then held at the Planters' hotel and the Taft delegation elected."

MANY PERSONS REPORTED DEAD

A Tidal Wave Sweeps Down a Wyoming Canon,

OVERWHELMING THE TOWN OF BUFFALO

Communication with Village Is Cut Off.

Last Message Received Comes from Telephone Operator, Who Says Water Is Flowing into Room Through Second-Story Windows. Town Has a Population of 2,000 People.

Sheridan, Wyo., June 12.—Many persons are reported to have been drowned by a tidal wave of water which swept down Clear creek canon last night and early today overwhelming Buffalo, a village of 2,000 souls. Communication with Buffalo was cut off early today. While only a few blocks wide, owing to the narrowness of the canon, Buffalo is over a mile long.

The telephone operator at Buffalo reported a wall of water sweeping down the canon twenty-five feet wide. This was the last message received from there.

"The water is now flowing into this room through the second-story windows—"

At that point the wires went down.

ROOSEVELT HAS FIVE DELEGATES

Missouri Delegates-at-Large Are Seated

BY THE NATIONAL COMMITTEE TODAY

After Governor Hadley Makes Argument.

The Roosevelt Men Are Seated on Motion of Senator Penrose, Head of the Taft Forces—This Is Second Victory for the Colonel and Harder Battle Will Be Waged To Win Others.

Chicago, June 13.—The Roosevelt delegates-at-large from Missouri were seated by the Republican national committee.

The eight men named as delegates-at-large were seated. Four will be delegates and four alternates. The alternates elected were not seated.

This victory for Roosevelt, the second since the committee sessions started, gives the colonel a total of five seated by the committee. The Roosevelt men were given their seats on the motion of Senator Boise Penrose, of Pennsylvania, national committeeman and head of the Taft forces. His motion provided that four of the men be seated as delegates and the other four as alternates.

The Roosevelt victory came after Governor Hadley appeared before the committee to argue the cases of the Roosevelt men and showed conclusively that the convention held in St Louis had been regular.

Basis of Contests.

Charges that the Roosevelt men had agreed to split the delegation at large to the Chicago convention giving Taft and Roosevelt men equal representation without instruction was the basis of the contest filed by the Taft men. Hadley asserted that no such agreement had been made.

Representative Bartholdt was permitted to make a statement in regard to the situation. He declared that the general opinion was that the committee had agreed to a division. He declared he regarded the action of the convention was a breach of faith and he left "heart-broken."

Governor Hadley withdrew half of the eight Roosevelt delegates leaving the dispute four on a side. He replied briefly to Bartholdt's statement.

Then came the vote seating the Roosevelt men.

A Complete Surprise.

Penrose's action came as a complete surprise to the Roosevelt men. It had been decided at a hasty conference among the Taft members of the committee that he should make the motion seating the Roosevelt delegates. Frank B. Kellogg, of Minnesota, Roosevelt champion, was on his feet ready to offer a similar motion when Chairman Rosewater recognized Penrose. Penrose asked the seating of Herbert S. Hadley Jesse A Tolerton, Walter S. Hockey and Hugh McIndoe as delegates and John D. McNeeley, Fredrick Essen, A. A. Speer and John W. Tippin as alternates. It was carried on a viva voce vote.

Representative Bartholdt, who held a proxy, moved to make Essen a delegate and McIndoe an alternate, but his motion was lost.

Hadley Is Pleased.

Governor Hadley was decidedly pleased over the result. He said:

"The committee gave both sides careful attention at all times. The committee decided the case on its merits and I feel that it was done in all fairness and there can be no question of its fairness in making this decision. I vote against the majority of the committee on some other cases when I sat with it when the evidence was not so clear, but as to the committee's action in these matters I make no comment."

The Illinois Case.

Chicago, June 13.—Illinois' fifty-four Roosevelt delegates will meet Monday morning at the Congress hotel to determine what steps shall be taken in view of the national committee's unseating of delegates. The meeting was called by Secretary Robert E McCormick following a decision by the California Roosevelt men to bind their presidential electors to the colonel regardless of Taft's possible nomination. That the Illinois delegation may adopt a similar program is probable.

ARE REGARDED AS FORTUNES OF WAR

No Hints French Commission as to Submarine Accidents.

Paris, June 13.—Accidents to submarines during naval maneuvers are regarded by the French government as the "fortunes of war," according to an unofficial report today relative to the inquiry into the recent sinking of the submarine, Vendemairie, by the man of war, Saint Louis. The rumor said the commission appointed to investigate the accident is ready to report, and that the report blames no one because of the danger attached to maneuvers under water.

MARCH TO SHOW FAITH IN BIBLE

Thousands Seen in Columbus Parade.

GENERAL SPEAKS IN COMMAND

Familiar Hymns Are Sung by Marchers

Sunday-School Boys Give Views as to Why Attendance Is Falling Off. One Can Not Reconcile Biblical and Scientific Account of Creation. Others Want To Be Shown How To Do Things.

Columbus, O., June 13. — Ignoring threatening skies, 5,000 undrilled men and boys, singing familiar hymns, paraded through the streets of Columbus.

Eleven bands played martial music and throughout the procession banners and flags were carried. Twenty-five thousand people are believed to have stood on the sidewalks. They applauded those in line and sang hymns with them. Governor Harmon and officials of the State Sunday School association, of whose convention the parade was a feature, occupied seats on the reviewing stand in East Broad street.

A counter on the reviewing stand in East Broad street fixed the number in line as given above, but General John C. Speaks, marshal, said he thought there were nearly 10,000.

Hundreds Turned Away.

At the conclusion of the parade Memorial hall was filed with male Sunday school enthusiasts. Hundreds were turned away and Broad street was filled from fence to fence by men, women and children. Wesley chapel, where a service for young girls was held, and the Chamber of Commerce auditorium, where women had a meeting, both proved inadequate for the crowds seeking entrance.

At the head rode two troopers on horseback, one carying the Stars and Stripes, the other a cross. Next came a platoon of police and then Troop B, O. N. G., in command of Captain R. W. Knauss. Powers' band from Olentangy park came next, followed by General Speaks and staff.

Prize-winning Sunday schools were announced as follows:

Logan county, with 621, largest representation for a county within a 50-mile radius.

Trumbull county, with 426, for counties outside the 50-mile radius.

Lancaster, with 290, for the largest city representation.

Madison township, Franklin county, with 255, for largest township representation.

This morning at Wesley chapel Dr. A. M. Buell of Boston delivered an address on "The Church and the Home." The second session of school methods were held in various churches.

At Memorial hall this afternoon the speakers were Miss Marie C. Brehm, Chicago; W G. Landes, Philadelphia; Rev. N. W. Stroup, Cleveland; Miss Nannie Lee Frayser, Louisville, and W. C. Pearce, Chicago.

The convention will come to a close this evening at Memorial hall.

Say It Is Too Tame.

Columbus O., June 13—Five hundred boys, all Sunday school workers, discussed why boys leave Sunday school at the session of the boys' congress in the First Congregational church, held in connection with the state Sunday school convention.

'Old fogy teachers can't get boys interested in Sunday school," said one boy.

"You can't clip a tadpole's tail off and expect him to grow into a frog that can jump," said another youngster.

"Day schools teach you that millions of years were required to make the earth, while the Sunday school teacher says it was made in six days," said another chap. "How's a boy going to reconcile such teachings?"

"Boys find out that they do not find out how to do things in Sunday school," said a fourth youngster.

"Sunday schools haven't kept pace in attractiveness with other amusements," said another boy.

THREATEN TO CALL OUT THE MILITIA

New Jersey Town's Authorities Fear Strikers' Outbreaks.

Perth Amboy, N J., June 13.—The authorities here today threatened to call out the militia as the result of strike riots at the local plants of the American Smelting & Refining company yesterday when eight persons were shot. A mob of 3,000 men and women attacked the plant. The women fought as savagely as the men against the police. Chief of Police P. J. Burke today turned the situation over to Sheriff Albert Blotschweiler, who swore in fifty deputies. The sheriff is threatening to bring troops to the scene.

Fifty private detectives, armed with pistols, were brought from New York today to protect strike-breakers. There was further trouble shortly after the arrival of the detectives when a mob attacked Policemen John Morris, Charles Quinn and Joseph Gudowisk and nearly beat them to death. The officers were trying to arrest a rioter.

BLOODIEST FIGHT OF THE LONG WAR

The Engagement Is Fought at Homs.

Courier Brings News from the Scene of Conflict—The Italians Bury 195 Bodies Up to Time Dispatches Are Sent, and There Are Many Others Still Unburied—The Loss of the Italians.

Tripoli, June 13.—More than 500 Turks, Arabs and Italians have been killed in a fierce battle at Homs, according to dispatches arriving here by courier today from the scene of the conflict. It was the bloodiest fight since the beginning of the Turco-Italian war.

Italians had buried 495 bodies up to the time the dispatches were sent and there were many others still unburied. The Italians lost thirty killed and sixty wounded.

STRIKING SEAMEN WOULD BURN SHEDS

At Havre, France, They Are Frustrated in Attempt.

Havre, June 13.—Striking seamen attempted to burn the sheds of the French line here today, but were driven off by the soldiers on guard before they could accomplish their purpose. The ranks of the strikers were swelled today by the crew of the Generale Transatlantique when she arrived in port.

The situation here continues acute, although reports from the outside show that seamen in other ports are delinquent in responding to the order for a general walkout. M. Chancerel, president of the Shipowners' federation, declares the ship owners will not submit to arbitration, nor will they make any concessions. However, the owners of a number of yachts have raised the pay of their seamen in order to get them to return to work.

IRELAND GETS TASTE OF SUFFRAGETISM

Women Attack Postoffice and Other Public Buildings.

Doublin, June 13.—Ireland, which has hitherto been immune from suffrage violence, got a taste of suffragetism today when women made a demonstration in this city in behalf of the ballot. A mob of women attacked the postoffice, the customs house, the military barracks, and the land commission building. Hundreds of windows were smashed.

Some of the women became hysterical in their rage and excitement and had to be treated by physicians. Eight ringleaders were arrested.

TACTICS OF THE COLONEL'S MEN

Seen in Move To Switch the Taft Delegates

FROM TENNESSEE TO ROOSEVELT

That Is Assertion of Southern Politicians.

That an Effort Will Be Made To Switch Taft Delegates to the Ex-President's Band Wagon, Despite Denial of Certain Roosevelt Adherents, Is Rumored in Memphis and Chicago.

Chicago, June 13.—Asserting that the reports emanating from Memphis that there was a movement on foot there to switch the Taft delegates to Roosevelt were unfounded, Harry O. True, delegates from the Tenth Tennessee district, today declared the men would vote for the president for renomination. True, whose seat has been contested, said there was no chance to swing any of the instructed delegates to the Roosevelt column.

James W. Brown, a delegate from the Second district, whose seat is also contested, asserted that there was not enough money in Wall street to buy the Tennessee delegation.

"J. Pierpont Morgan with all his resources, could not buy our delegates if he wanted to give them to Roosevelt," Brown said.

M. C. Monday, national committeeman from Tennessee, corroborated Brown, but John W. Farley, who is trying to secure a seat as a Roosevelt delegate from the Memphis district, although his contest has not been filed in the regular way, predicted that the colonel might get one delegate from the state. He said there was little chance of acquiring any others.

Assertion of Politicians.

Memphis, Tenn., June 13.—That an effort will be made to switch the Tennessee Taft delegates to the Roosevelt band wagon was asserted by politicians here today. The move was originated in western Tennessee. The delgates and alternates are discussing a plan to disregard their Taft instructions and throw the solid vote of the state into the Roosevelt column. The western Tennessee delegation, headed by Harry O. True, whose seat as a Tenth district delegate is contested, will leave for Chicago Saturday.

SCHOOL CHILDREN TO BE EXAMINED

Healthy Chicago Pupils To Be Safeguarded Against Diseases.

Chicago, June 13.—Rigid medical examinations are to be made of every one of Chicago's 350,000 school children when the fall term opens in September. The board of education has decided on this action. When the examinations are completed, those found to be mentally or physically deficient will be segregated from the rest of the pupils.

Each pupil will receive a printed blank with instructions to be filled out by a physician and returned to the board. This plan was adopted in order that parents who wish to have their children examined by their family physicians may do so.

"Healthy children should be safeguarded against communicable diseases, while parents of defective children should be apprised of the truth sooner and thus be enabled to have their children treated before their weakness becomes chronic," was an excerpt from the report of a school committee on medical examination appointed by the school board and which was adopted by the board.

BLOODY BATTLE BEING FOUGHT

The Cuban Rebels Continue To Pillage and Burn.

Havana, June 13.—One of the bloodiest fights since the negro revolution broke out is going on near Palmarito in Santiago province between insurgents and 200 federals under Lieutenant Ortiz. The fighting began yesterday and the rebels were compelled to retreat after twenty-five of them had been killed, including their two leaders, and seven had been taken prisoners. The rebels are in retreat, being pursued by the federals and a running battle is being fought today in the jungle south of the Cuban railroad line. The rebels were taken by surprise. Heavy execution was done by the government machine guns.

Three armed negroes surprised an armed guard in this city early today and attempted to assassinate him. They were pursued after an alarm was given, but got away.

BOSTON VOLUNTEER FIREMAN IS KILLED

Loses Life in a Fire That Does $60,000 Damage.

Boston, June 13.—Herbert Johnson, a volunteer fireman at the American house, was killed and Michael Foley, a watchman, was rescued during a four-alarm fire which destroyed the four-story brick building at Sudbury and Portland streets early today.

The loss was $60,000.

A. L. CONRAD BEGAN NEW DUTIES THURSDAY

Ben Scutter Will Begin Work as Chief Clerk Soon.

SOME DELAY CAUSED BY A BIG FOUR WRECK

Engine Blows Out a Cylinder Head East of Caledonia—Nelson Crist, an Erie Conductor, Dies at His Home in Chicago—Local Railway News Notes.

A. L. Conrad, the well-known chief clerk in the Erie division offices in the Huber building, assumed his new duties as general foreman at the Erie transfer Wednesday. Ben Scutter, chief clerk at Rochester, who is to succeed Mr Conrad as chief clerk here, will assume his duties very soon. He has been ill for a few days, but he is expected here to take up his work at almost any time. The position of Mr Conrad is newly-created A more efficient plan in the handling of the work at the transfer is to be inaugurated at once and for this reason the position was created. The plan used at Jersey City is to be tried out to a certain extent here, and it is generally believed that this will serve to improve the conditions here The increase of transfer work has been very great during the past year.

Some delay to the traffic through here was caused, Thursday, when the engine of Big Four train No 41 blew out a cylinder head between Caledonia and Galion An engine was sent from Galion to take the train on. The nature of the trouble was such that there was considerable delay and inconvenience.

Reports of a wreck on the Big Four road between Galion and Cleveland were received here, Thursday, but no details as to the extent of the trouble were given. The wreck did not seriously hamper traffic however

John Hanley has accepted a position as day yard-clerk for the Hocking Valley road here.

Nelson Christ, an Erie conductor, who made his home in Huntington up until a few years ago, died at his home in Chicago, Wednesday, according to word received here. Mr. Christ had been ill for some time. He ran out of Huntington about twenty years, and when he was promoted to the passenger service he moved to Chicago.

The largest train that ever ran over the Delaware division of the Erie was run out of Susquehanna, April 24, and consisted of 125 freight and coal cars, of which 122 were empty and three were loaded, with two engines and a caboose The train was more than a mile in length and created a great deal of comment among the railroad men The length of the train was so great that there was not a switch on the line that could accommodate it

Excessive use of tobacco is the underlying principle in the many failures of persons to successfully weather the examinations for sight, hearing and physical condition preparatory to entering the employ of the railroads This statement was made by a local man who acted in the capacity of examining official and carefully classified the cause of failure. Cigaret smoking he stated claimed more victims than any other form of tobacco smoking.

Old employes of the road are weeded out of the service every two years when every man is thoroughly examined for defects in sight and hearing At the examination held here a short time ago, fully a score of men resigned their positions on lines in and around Youngstown In the majority of the cases tobacco was adjudged the cause of the trouble—Youngstown Telegram

COMBINATION MOTOR WAGON IS DAMAGED

Is Sent Back to the Factory for Repairs Thursday.

STEERING KNUCKLE BREAKS DURING RUN

Machine Is Driven into a Ditch and Is Badly Broken—All Passengers Aboard the Car Escape Injury with the Exception of One Who Has a Leg Hurt.

The new combination motor wagon, which was delivered here last week for use at the No. 2 fire station, in the West End, is out of commission as a result of going into a ditch about two and one-half miles south of Marion on the Prospect pike, about 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon The accident was due to the breaking of the steering knuckle, this being the second time this knuckle has broken and in the same place

J. T Miller, a driver from the Seagrave factory, was in charge of the car when the accident occurred. In the car were Driver Kelly, of the No. 2 department; ex-Councilman D. E. J. Brockett and Messrs. Kennedy and Sawyer, representatives of the Goodyear Tire company, of Akron, who sold the tires for the car. Miller was driving towards Marion when the steering knuckle broke. Kelly, Brockett and Kennedy were riding in the hose bed of the wagon and Sawyer was riding on the seat with Driver Miller As soon as the knuckle broke, Kelly and Brockett left the car, but before Kennedy had a chance to get out, the car ran into the ditch where a narrow trench for at tile drain was being constructed

Mr. Sawyer was thrown from the seat of the car and sustained a slight injury to one of his legs. Driver Miller was thrown against the side of the car and the steering wheel, but was not injured. The right front wheel of the car was broken beyond repair while the frame and fenders were bent and strained. Paddock's hoist was summoned to remove the car from the ditch, and after being equipped with a wheel sent from the factory, and a new steering knuckle the car ran in under its own power. The car was shipped back to the factory, Thursday, for repairs.

The Third Set of Reviewers Named for Improvement.

A new set of reviewers will be appointed on the Thompson road, which is to be a continuation of the Keener pike just west of the city. This will make the third set of viewers for this improvements, the petition for which was granted by the county commissioners months ago.

The first set of viewers fixed the damages and compensation at too high a figure and payment was protested. The protest carried Then the county commissioners, as is necessary under the pike-building law, appointed five reviewers to fix the compensation and damages. After three hearings on their report by the commissioners, it was finally decided to throw out the report entirely and begin all over again. Some one discovered that the first three viewers had never been regularly sworn, as required by law, and neither had the five reviewers been sworn.
